America Stands Firm, Keating Says; Lauds Nixon-Lodge Combine

Senator Kenneth B. Keating, (R-N. Y.), speaking before more than 500 persons at the Nevele Country Club in Ellenville Thursday night said the Eisenhower Administration will not surrender Guantanamo Naval Base to Cuba any more than it would give up Quemoy and Matsu to the Red Chinese or Lebanon to the Soviets.

Speaking at a joint rally sponsored by the Town of Wawarsing Republican Club and the Ulster County Republican Committee, Keating, from Lima, N. Y., declared that a Nixon-Lodge administration would follow the same forthright, courageous and unyielding policy of resistance to Communist aggression.

Proof Is in UN

Introduced by Assembly Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, Senator Keating said that at the United Nations General Assembly now in session in New York the nation can see the effective way in which the Eisenhower administration is meeting the menace to the United States and the American way of life, and to world civilization itself.

Senator Keating declared President Eisenhower had won a great diplomatic victory at the United Nations after the Communists moved to turn the world peace organization into a Red-controlled machine.

Reds Lose Dominance Bid

"Led by President Eisenhower, the free nations are standing firm and the Communists have lost for this time, their boldest bid for world domination. Our president could not have done this if he had not been able to speak from a position of strength. The Communists know, the whole world knows, that America is not soft—that it has not become weak. The Eisenhower administration has not let America down—it has met the challenge—and the enemy has been thrust back," Keating told the audience.

He said Castro comes "tagging along at the end of a circus parade," ranting and calling us monopolists and tyrants, hinting that he will soon order us out of our Cuban Naval Base. "All this from a man whose country exists today only because we fought a war to rescue it from tyranny," Keating said. He said that Guantanamo was established to defend Cuba's freedom and that of all the rest of the Caribbean area.

Among Top 10 in Nation

In introducing Senator Keating, Assemblyman Wilson stated that he had been selected in a Newsweek poll of correspondents as "one of the 10 outstanding United States Senators."

The Kennedy-Johnson ticket was "put together for political expedience," Senator Keating said. On 238 roll calls Kennedy and Johnson have disagreed, Keating said. He asked how this "self-conflicting team" could suddenly agree. It was reminiscent of a "shot-gun wedding," Keating said.

As a result of seven years of Republican administration the

Mrs. Vucetec Will Face Murder if Mind Clears Up

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — A 30-year-old woman, now in Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, has been indicted on a charge of first-degree murder in the deaths of her three children.

A Columbia County grand jury returned a three-count indictment Thursday against Mrs. Theresa Vucetec, a Yugoslav refugee. She will face the indictments if she ever is declared sane and released from the hospital.

Police said Mrs. Vucetec slashed the throats of the children, who ranged in age from 2 months to 7 years. They were killed Aug. 3 in their farm home near Copake.

Mrs. Vucetec and her husband were born in Yugoslavia. They fled to Austria, where they met and married, and then came to the United States.

250,000 in Boston Go Wild for Nixon

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign drive gathered impetus today from President Eisenhower's all-out blessings, a big boost in party war funds and a thundering Boston reception.

The cheers of tens of thousands who watched him drive through Boston streets still rang in his ears when the Republican presidential nominee spoke to more than 6,000 followers at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at Commonwealth Armory Thursday night.

One of Greatest Days

"This has been one of the greatest days of campaigning we've ever experienced," Nixon said.

Using the crowd estimate of Lt. Col. John C. Blake of the state police, he added: "Nobody dreamed, I least of all, that we would come into the home state of our opponent and break the record and have a quarter of a million people on the streets."

Nixon watched and listened over closed-circuit television linking 36 party-raising dinners around the country while Eisenhower, speaking from Chicago, called his vice president a better man qualified for the presidency than any man he knows.

Those dinners were expected to provide somewhere between $1.7 million to $2 million to help finance Nixon's drive to defeat Sen. John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat, for the presidency.

Sharpest Words Yet

In the course of two speeches, one before, and one telecast to the diners around the nation, Nixon hit into Kennedy with some of

U. S. Closes Cuban Plant, Other Sanctions Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering the use of economic sanctions in its deepening conflict with the Cuban government of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These plans, calling for export controls on a limited number of items, may follow up a U.S. decision Thursday night to close down the $110-million nickel processing plant it owns and operates in Cuba's Oriente province.

The World War II plant, operated steadily since the Korean War, now employs or contributes to employment of 2,800 Cubans, who presumably will lose their jobs.

The State Department said the operation has been harassed by the Castro regime and subjected to what it called confiscatory taxes due to go into effect Saturday. The Cuban government rejected a U.S. offer to pay "a reasonable tax" on nickel shipments from the plant, the department said.

There were these other developments indicative of the tightening of the Cuban situation:

1. The State Department said all American men in Cuba are being advised to send their wives and children back to the United States to avoid harassment by Cuban authorities.

2. The Castro government, in a new diplomatic rebuff, refused to accept a U.S. note protesting nationalization of American-owned banks in Cuba.

Although both the nickel plant closure and the proposed export controls would affect the Cuban economy, there was no direct relation between them.

While details have not been disclosed, indications are that machinery for oil refineries and chemicals used in the refining process will be brought under the export control system.

Such actions would hamper Cuba's operation of U.S. oil refineries it has seized and is using to refine crude oil obtained from the Soviet Union. Oil experts say the Soviets cannot provide replacement parts for the American-built machinery.

2 Guards Taken to Hospital Officials Probe Mealtime Uprising

A struggle for power between Puerto Rican and Negro groups at the Eastern Correctional Institution, Napanoch, is believed to be a possible cause for the riot during the evening meal Thursday which severely injured two guards and wrecked mess hall facilities.

Superintendent Charles L. McKendrick told The Freeman this morning that officials are conducting an investigation into the causes of the disturbance which put two guards in the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville.

Food Protest Possible

He mentioned, as a possibility, that the trouble may have come as a protest against food served at the evening meal, but pointed out that "all but a few" ate the meal.

In fair condition at the hospital today is Harold Butler, 46, of Wallkill, with a possible skull fracture, broken nose, facial lacerations and bruises.

Dazed After Head Blow

Reported in good condition is William McGowan, 37, of Kerhonkson, who was dazed when he was struck in the back of the head by an unidentified flying object.

McKendrick said about 25 or 30 men, most of them young offenders, are believed to have participated in the disturbance which was quickly brought under control.

10-15 Tables Overturned

He pointed out that about 10 or 15 mess tables were overturned, without being broken, and that the physical damage was "minimal." One window was broken by a flying object.

McKendrick said McGowan was dazed "for a few seconds" but managed to get to his own

Wallkill Youth Is Held on Car Theft, Other Is Sought

A Wallkill youth is in the Ulster County jail this morning on a grand larceny charge and another man from the same hamlet is being sought by police authorities on a similar charge.

According to Highland state police, each of them stole cars from the Wallkill Ford Garage early this morning.

In jail is Robert Edward O'Connor, 18, of Church Street.

Looking for DeGroat

Sought is Joseph DeGroat, about the same age.

O'Connor and DeGroat allegedly took cars without license plates, from the garage and drove off shortly after midnight.

O'Connor was driving a 1956 sedan, DeGroat a 1960 model.

Trooper Harry Foster told The Freeman this morning that DeGroat ran out of gas after driving a short distance. He and O'Connor drove to the farm of Clifford Birch in O'Connor's car to borrow some gasoline, obtained two gallons and returned to the other vehicle. They were unable to pour the fuel into the tank, however.

Calls Constable

In the meantime, Birch, observing that the car had no license plates, had called Constable Jacob Baumer.

Baumer ordered O'Connor and DeGroat to drive the stolen cars.

Adenauer Cancels E. German Trade

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government served notice today it is cancelling the trade agreement between West and East Germany.

The action, taken after top-level conferences was ordered as a countermove to mounting pressure by the Communists against divided and isolated West Berlin. The cancellation notice orders erasure of the trade agreement by the end of this year.

Government authorities said Adenauer and his aides agreed Bonn would withdraw the cancellation if the Communists take the heat off Berlin.

Felix von Eckardt, press spokesman for the Bonn government, said this meant the Communists would have to guarantee freedom of movement in and out of Berlin and within the city itself.

The East Germans have been applying pressure bit-by-bit restricting movement in Berlin, which lies 110 miles from the nearest point in West Germany, despite claims by Britain, France and the United States that they with the Soviet Union are the sole authorities over this phase of the city's life.

$470 Million Annually

Today's action nullifies a trade agreement which provides for East-West trade totaling around two billion marks (about $470 million).

Von Eckardt told a news conference the Western Allies had agreed to join in the trade embargo, provided a new contract is not negotiated by the end of this year. Renegotiation seemed unlikely since it would have to involve a major backdown on the part of the Communists.

Many Will Share $11,675,000 Left By Singer Heir

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A hospital, schools, charities and individuals will share $11,675,000 bequeathed by Stephen C. Clark, heir to the Singer Sewing Machine fortune and a founder of Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Clark, who died Sept. 17 at the age of 78, left his widow, Susan Vanderpool Clark, the residue of his estate, the family home in Cooperstown and art objects.

There was no estimate of the total value of the estate.

Clark's will, dated Dec. 16, 1959, was filed Thursday in Otsego County Surrogate's Court.

$6 Million to Hospital

His largest bequest, $6 million, was left the Mary Imogene Bassett Hospital in Cooperstown. The New York State Historical Society received $2 million and Yale University $1 million.

Clark divided most of his extensive art collection between Yale and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City, subject to life use by his widow. He was a Yale graduate and a former board chairman of the Metropolitan Museum.

Clark also left $500,000 to the museum and another $500,000 to his son-in-law, Henry R. Labouisse, husband of the late Elizabeth Clark Labouisse.

Bassett Hospital will receive its bequest in three parts—$2 million for general corporate purposes, $2 million to be added to the research fund that Clark created in 1953, and $2 million for an endow-

Neutrals Would Be At Parley Anglo Head Will Extend UN Stay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Saudi Arabia today proposed a summit meeting between the United States and the Soviet Union with neutralist leaders sitting in.

Ahmad Shukairy, head of the Saudi Arabian delegation, made the proposal in a speech prepared for delivery before the U.N. General Assembly.

Little Use for Big 4

Shukairy said there was little point in another Big Four meeting since the Paris summit conference had proved a failure.

"The United Kingdom and France, with all due respect, have little to say when the United States is in a summit conference. The two giants, the United States and the Soviet Union, can talk to each other with full authority as representing two dramatically opposed worlds," Shukairy declared. "But the two giants should not be left alone."

Nasser, Tito, Nehru Likely

Shukairy proposed that the meeting include "leaders who have distinguished themselves not only as national heroes, but also as international figures dedicated to the cause of justice and peace."

Shukairy did not say who he believed should take part, but he apparently referred to such men as President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Ike May Return For Third Visit

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, abruptly canceling his plans to go home, settled in today for an extra week's stay at the United Nations after two bleak encounters with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Macmillan is expected to give President Eisenhower a report on Khrushchev's rock-hard position in the next few days.

Sensation followed sensation at the U. N., making this session of the General Assembly the most extraordinary—and apparently the most dangerous—in its history.

K Tougher Than Ever

Khrushchev was talking and acting tougher than ever.

Eisenhower may return to New York for the third time since the Assembly started, U. S. officials said.

Macmillan was to have sailed for London Saturday. An aide said instead he will stay in New York through next week. His departure date is now uncertain.

President Sukarno of Indonesia, addresses the General Assembly today. He came prepared to discuss disarmament and to propose means of melting the ice in the cold war.

It was reported also that he would advocate seating Communist China in the U. N., despite Indonesia's recent troubles with Red China over laws curtailing Chinese merchants in Indonesia.

Sukarno Has Talks

Sukarno met Thursday night with Indian Prime Minister Nehru, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, President Tito of Yugoslavia, and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

While they were talking, Macmillan went to the headquarters

Mobutu Charges Reds Are Still Operating in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu charged today that Communist agents are continuing clandestine operations here two weeks after they were supposedly ejected from the country.

Mobutu, the Congo army chief of staff, said that his men seized a powerful radio transmitter and receiver and a stock of ammunition Thursday night in the closed-down Czechoslovak Embassy.

The colonel told newsmen that broadcasts had been made regularly each night from the embassy but that the Communist agent who had been broadcasting escaped.

When he staged his military coup Mobutu ordered Czech and Soviet diplomats out of the Congo when he staged his military coup Sept. 14. They packed up and flew away but said they would be back.

Mobutu also said that a Communist journalist employed by the French Communist organ L'Humanite returned to Leopoldville Thursday. He said his men were keeping a close watch on him.

Mobutu received this reporter and two others at his heavily guarded home in the army's Camp Leopold II. He displayed a powerful German-made radio transmitter and a Hungarian receiver which he said were found in the Czech Embassy.

He also exhibited some 25 boxes of shotgun shells and pistol bullets in boxes labeled "Made in Czechoslovakia."

It is a signal honor for Vidal's play to have been chosen for presentation at the festival. Vidal is Democratic-Liberal candidate for Congress from the 29th Congressional District.

Red Move Beaten

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The fourth general conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency today rejected a last-minute Soviet attempt to block a Western-proposed inspection plan, and adopted it with an overwhelming majority.

Unlike the Big Three test-ban talks at Geneva, the Vienna conference deals only with peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The inspection plan is to assure that nuclear materials given to participating nations by the agency are not diverted for military purposes. IAEA inspectors are to see to that.

BUICK'S NEW LIGHTWEIGHT SPECIAL

Big car comfort and styling are combined with the economy of the small car in Buick's new lightweight Special four-door sedan, powered by the first American aluminum V-8 engine in the automobile industry. The Special is mounted on a 112-inch wheelbase, is 188 inches long and weighs only 2,700 pounds, some 1,600 pounds lighter than conventional-size Buicks. Its high compression V-8 engine develops 155 horsepower, giving it outstanding performance comparable to the bigger models in the Buick line. The Special comes in two body styles, a four-door sedan and a four-door wagon, with a deluxe version offered in each. A new dual-path turbine drive transmission is offered as optional equipment, along with power steering, and air-conditioning.

Buick Presents Special Among All New Line

Buick today introduced its all-new line of cars for 1961, including the entirely new Buick Special powered by the first American aluminum V-8 engine in the automobile industry.

The Special is a new-sized car, Buick's entry in the economy field. It is 188 inches long and weighs only 2,700 pounds, 1,600 pounds lighter than conventional models in the Buick line. Its light weight, moved by a 155-horsepower high-compression engine, gives the Special lively performance characteristics comparable to regular-sized Buicks.

The Special will be available in two body styles, a four-door sedan and a four-door station wagon with a standard and deluxe version of each.

All of the new Buicks will go on public display for the first time in dealer showrooms Wednesday, Oct. 5.

The whole line is styled with clean, sweeping lines, a conspicuous absence of chrome, and from the Special through the Electra 225 more headroom and greater passenger comfort are achieved through extensive engineering and styling changes.

Riding comfort has been improved by lowering the transmission tunnel and the additional headroom has been provided by the use of a completely new frame design.

The 1961 Buick styling is crisp, smooth and functional. Windshields have been restyled, and doors both front and rear open wider for easier entrance and exit. The rear deck is virtually flat and blends into the fender lines. The '61's more luxurious interiors offer a wide choice of decorator color schemes in leathers, fabrics or vinyls.

The Special looks exactly like what it is—a small Buick, even to the traditional ventipoints.

"The strong family resemblance was intentional," said Edward D. Rollert, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

"The Special is a member of the Buick family and we want everybody to know it. Not only does it look like a Buick, it is engineered like a Buick and performs like a Buick."

The Buick Special engine weighs only 318 pounds and is the lightest liquid-cooled power plant per cubic inch of displacement on the market. It produces 220 foot-pounds of torque, has an 8.8-to-1 compression ratio and uses regular gasoline. Aluminum components include the cylinder block and heads. Alloy iron cylinder sleeves are cast integrally within the block.

Four V-8 engines available in the regular line employ a wide variety of aluminum alloy parts, too, with a resultant weight reduction and efficiency increase for all '61 Buick models.

An entirely new air-cooled torque converter transmission probably is the most simplified automatic transmission on the market and is available as an option on the Special. An aluminum case, a converter pump with radial fins and two air exhaust openings in the converter lower housing provide the cooling.

A three-speed synchromesh transmission, designed specifically for the Special, is standard equipment.

Canadian First

First plane ever flown in Canada was the "Silver Dart," which was piloted by J. A. D. McCurdy at Baddeck, Nova Scotia, on Feb. 23, 1909.

GROWING UP—Young men and women in the United States today average about two inches taller than their forebears at the turn of the century. They are also heavier, says an Agricultural Dept. report, which contains various studies of heights and weights of American adults during the last 100 years. One example: In 1883, only about four per cent of young men entering Amherst and Yale stood six feet or more. In 1956, over 30 per cent did.

A grand and trial jury will be in attendance at the October term of Supreme Court which will be convened Monday by Justice William Deckerman.

Grand jurors will report at 11 a. m. and trial jurors at noon. At which time excuses will be heard and exercised. The calendar with 72 civil cases will be called at 2 p. m. at which time cases will be marked and a day calendar made up.

Under the new rules, cases are placed on the calendar according to the date of filing and will always remain on the "General Calendar," moving up in position as cases are disposed of.

Both of these have been eliminated from the new calendar, moving many cases up to higher numbers than on previous calendars.

Michael School, and it was indicated today that he might have gone on a trip with a 10-year-old boy from the George Washington School. The other boy, up until early this afternoon, had not been reported missing from home, but he has been absent from school. It was also learned today that some time ago John Long and two other boys had left home for New York and were picked up at Highland. It is believed that Long might have again headed for New York. Police said he had with him $13 which he had saved, and took his bicycle. Long was described as five feet, two inches tall, brown eyes and dark brown hair. He wore a blue jacket, red striped shirt, khaki trousers and black shoes.

$1 Minimum Wage Law Begins in State Saturday

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A $1-an-hour minimum wage law will go into effect in New York State Saturday. The State Labor Department says no one knows how many persons will receive pay increases because of it.

A department spokesman pointed out that the law would be administered through 11 different orders. Ten cover specific service industries. The 11th covers miscellaneous industries.

In many cases, the employer may figure the value of room, board and tips in arriving at the $1 wage.

For this reason, the spokesman said, it has been impossible to determine how many workers actually will receive higher pay under the new minimum wage, which was passed by the 1960 legislature.

The state has had a minimum wage law since 1937. This also was administered through orders applying to various industries. Some persons have been receiving less than $1, mostly in cases where tips, room or board were involved.

Some orders called for minimum wages above $1 an hour.

Domestic and farm workers are not covered by the minimum wage legislation.

Railroads Ask Unions to Help On Competition

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Railroad union leaders have been asked to work with management in seeking legislation to strengthen the competitive position of railroads.

"We should not let our areas of disagreement overshadow our common interests," said Victor F. Condello, vice chairman of the New York State Association of Railroads.

Condello spoke Thursday at the 25th biennial convention of the New York State Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

He urged the 48 delegates to support several industry proposals, including one that would reduce the railroad's share for highway grade-crossing reconstruction.

Such projects, he said, are "for the primary benefit of our highway competitors."

Under present law, the railroad involved is required to pay half the cost of constructing certain grade crossings. The railroads want this share cut to 15 per cent.

An army career, started 44 years ago as an infantry recruit, came to a close today when Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the nation's top military man for the past three years, retired. Twining, who will be 63 Oct. 11, had requested retirement as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for health reasons. Replacing him as chairman of the JCS is Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, one-time artilleryman, who qualified as a paratrooper at the age of 51. Lemnitzer, 61, is stepping up after a 14-month stint as Army Chief of Staff. He will be succeeded as Army Chief of Staff by Gen. George H. Decker.

But Move Backfires

K's Outburst Seen As Soviet Strategy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—Conviction is growing among

U.N. observers that Nikita Khrushchev's spectacular outbursts, far from being spontaneous tantrums,

are coldly planned and calculated instruments of Soviet strategy. But the strategy is back-firing, they say.

"Khrushchev has badly mis-judged the mood of this Assembly session," said one source close to the African delegates.

Telling Blow for West

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, in his coolly reasonable exposition of the world's key issues, apparently struck a telling blow for the West in the propaganda cold war, if the reactions of the majority of delegates are any barometer. His approach caused Khrushchev, apparently, to fall into a trap of his own making.

Khrushchev had a good idea of what to expect in the speech by

Macmillan—the ranking spokesman on hand for the Western alliance. And he knew Macmillan would have an attentive audience.

Minutes before the day's debating began, Khrushchev caucused with his Communist satellite leaders.

As the Soviet Premier may have expected, Macmillan captured the mood of the delegates and adroitly appealed to it with the attitude of a man calmly approaching solemn deliberations on life-or-death issues.

And Macmillan had reasonable proposals, proposals that might provide a hopeful path toward easing tensions.

Leaves Sense of Shock

Khrushchev set out, say some observers, first to intrude on that mood of reasonableness, and second to capture the center of the world stage again, so that proposals advanced by Macmillan on behalf of the West would be buried in a mass of spectacular publicity for the Russian's antics.

But from comments heard after the meeting, it seemed that his actions had left only a sense of shock among many delegates.

This performance, and the belligerent language Khrushchev used after the speech was over, strengthened the impression held by many that his mission in New York is not to reach agreements, but to mark time, to fight a holding action for world communism, which is unready to move aggressively in today's dangerous circumstances.

Many recalled previous Khrushchev outbursts. There was the

"toothache" incident, when Macmillan was in Moscow in February 1959 and was considered to be making progress in delicate negotiations with the Soviets. Suddenly Khrushchev issued an enormous

TWU Withdraws Threat of Strike Against Air Line

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union has dropped its threat of a strike at midnight

Saturday against American Airlines.

Withdrawal of the strike threat was announced Thursday night by

C. Robert Roadley of the National

Mediation Board. Roadley said the union is considering a new contract proposal.

The union had warned it would pull about 9,000 non-flight employees off the job in defiance of a federal law ordering a 30-day cooling-off period.

Although the walkout was scheduled for midnight Saturday, the current contract expires at midnight tonight.

Roadley's announcement came after a day-long meeting between the union and the airline. He would not discuss the airline's contract proposal.

Albany Painter

Under Indictment

In Wife's Death

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A house-

painter who police say shot and killed his wife while they tried to arrest him was under indictment today on a charge of second-degree murder.

Joseph Maye, 40, also was indicted by an Albany County grand jury Thursday on a charge of first-degree assault.

His wife, Carrie, also 40, was killed by a shotgun blast in their home here Sept. 10.

Neighbors saw Maye with the gun and summoned police. Police said that, as they attempted to take a gun from Maye, he shoved them aside and fired.

The Mayes are Negroes.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 30, 1960

COMMUNITY CHEST GOAL

The Kingston Area Community Chest's Red Feather goal, which begins next Monday, has been set at $125,000.

This goal was established by the Community Chest's Board of Directors upon recommendation of the budget committee. It is 1.8 per cent higher than the $122,750 raised last year. The increase will allow the agencies to maintain their operating expenses at a minimum consistent with rendering the type of service the community needs and expects.

The Community Chest idea grew out of World War 1 when multiplicity of fund-raising campaigns became too burdensome, bewildering and expensive. Although other financial drives are conducted here, the Kingston Area Community Chest's nine participating agencies depend on this drive which is held once a year. More agencies in the Chest would further lessen the number of drives.

Collecting money in the annual appeal is but one phase of the Chest supervision. These contributed funds must be distributed in accordance with a systematic budget procedure and spent wisely and fairly.

The Chest annual financial campaign combines the fund appeals of nine separate community services. This nine-in-one effort is for the following agencies: Association for the Help of Retarded Children, $5,625; Kingston Boys' Club, $10,027; Boy Scouts, $14,200; Girl Scouts, $8,302; Jewish Community Center, $12,000; Salvation Army, $10,161; USO, $650; YMCA, $24,621; YWCA, $14,185.

The goal set for this year's drive is a realistic one. However, if its to be raised, as it should be, it must receive wider and more generous support.

The Kingston Area Community Chest deserves and needs the support of all.

CENSUS SECRECY TEST

An interdepartmental squabble in Washington threatens to test the pledge of the Census Bureau to keep its data secret. The Federal Trade Commission, anxious to investigate merger cases, has asked for access to statistical information given by various corporations. The Census Bureau has flatly refused. The administration finds itself in the embarrassing position of a house divided against itself as the two departments contend with one another.

Having just gone through the census experience, the public senses what is at stake here. To be forced by law to give information to the Census Bureau, and then to have it used by another bureau, sounds like testifying against oneself. That is unconstitutional. While demands have been made only for corporate data, if the bars are let down who can be sure of the inviolability of other census information given in confidence?

But the FTC also has its argument. Why, it asks, should it be required to spend extra funds to ferret out figures already in the files of a government bureau down the street? After all, it notes, even the ultra-secret tax return can be commandeered under certain circumstances—why not census information?

Solution of this problem could have important side effects. The Supreme Court will undoubtedly be called upon to make the decision.

ONE OF FALL'S PLEASURES

Like the fruit which ripens and hangs luscious from tree and vine, fall also brings the new models of cars. For some families, even louder than the clangor of international bad tempers, will come the flourish of trumpets as the autos are unveiled.

Our economy—steel, rubber, transportation—is so tied up to this annual fall event, that it's a good thing it is awaited with anticipation and greeted with enthusiasm.

So sit back. Along with the annual sports parade of World Series and football, we have this other treat. The '61 models are about to roll.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE DAY OF ATONEMENT

The Jews tonight begin the celebration of their most holy day, the day of fasting, of meditation, of confession, contrition and atonement. For 24 hours, Jews fast and many of those hours are spent in prayer.

Sin has a very long history in human consciousness. It is the knowledge not only of unlawful conduct but of a violation of conscience. The laws of man may change from time to time, but conscience transcends the laws of man. Conscience is an automatic unfavorable mental response not only to action but to thought.

For instance, one was startled as he listened to Khrushchev's speech before the United Nations that this man literally lied but appeared to be as sincere when he lied as when he told the truth. In a word, his conscience does not trouble him. His consciousness of sin is very remote. The Jews, in their long association with the Natural Law, over a period of four or five thousand years, first with Hammurabi and then with Moses, knew that sin is a poison that destroys nations as it does men.

The tale about Lot's wife undoubtedly was designed to point dramatically to the perils of an immoral life. Let you recall, left Sodom because of the vile habits of its inhabitants but his wife, who enjoyed the life of the sinful city, turned to have a last look at the place and was turned into a pillar of salt.

It is this concept of sin and retribution that is rapidly passing out of our lives in this era of materialism. For if there is no free will, there can be no sin. If man is a product of accidental forces playing upon each other, there can be no retribution. That is right which succeeds and Al Capone was not punished for murder but for failure to pay his income taxes. So Khrushchev can stand before the United Nations and speak a series of lies, known to all who listen to be lies, known to Khrushchev to be lies; nevertheless, the lies become facts because Khrushchev spoke them. They are facts of history. They are facts that will have to be dealt with because Khrushchev demanded a reorganization of the United Nations administration and that must be accepted or rejected.

So, in an era which ignores sin and retribution, disorder can be proposed as a solution to current problems and the shock is not sufficiently great because moral resistance to evil is not sufficiently great.

This is really what the Day of Atonement is about. The Jews have been worshipping on this day throughout their history not merely because it is a holiday but as a recognition that they have transgressed.

On the day before Yom Kippur, we sat down to an evening meal and then we went to the synagogue where my father clothed himself in white garments and in a woolen prayer shawl. The prayers were intense and sincere and many wept and some even cried out loud for their sins were heavy upon them. Slowly one walked home and soon went to bed, for neither food nor drink were permissible and conversation was short. The following morning, we went to the synagogue early and stayed until sundown. Everyone fasted. True, one went for a breath of air, but the older ones stayed throughout the day in constant prayer and confession of sin.

The late afternoon service on Yom Kippur is particularly beautiful if one knows Hebrew and has a love for mysticism. The body has been conquered. Hunger has been overcome without food. Thirst has been slacked without drink. The tears are dry. The heart feels refreshed. The sins have been washed away and one returns to the world hopeful for a better year and a better life.

Whoever has never experienced this enormous emotional bantism does not really know how profoundly the human spirit can express itself even in the simplest person. On such a day, one feels that God is near and that His words are clear. It is not possible to have lived through such a day casually. It is impossible to forget its impression of satisfaction.

And when it was done, we foregathered in our father's house to feast and thank God that there was bread to eat and wine to drink and a morrow to hope for.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Time—Not Sex—Is Factor

In Statistics on Smoking

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"My parents have gotten so scared of the things you and other doctors write and say about smoking," writes a young lady who simply signs herself "Co-ed," that they raise a fuss the minute I try to light a cigarette in the house.

"Why don't you kill-jays tell the public that the terrible things you keep yapping about don't happen to us of the 'weaker sex'?"

We've only one reason, dear Miss Co-ed, for failing to do what you'd like us to do. It's just that we'd be telling the public something that simply isn't so.

And, if you'll be patient with me, I'll try to explain why there are statistical differences between male and female reactions to smoking.

Men have been smoking cigars and cigarettes since 1790 when Gen. Israel Putnam was said to have introduced the habit after the British campaign to Cuba.

Until the movement to secure equal rights for women got into sufficiently high gear to accomplish passage of the suffrage amendment in 1920, it was considered unladylike for a female to smoke in public.

Thereafter, women took to smoking with such vengeance that their cigarette consumption soon exceeded that of their male companions and was mostly responsible for a tenfold increase in cigarette production between 1915 (17 billion) and 1938 (163 billion).

Now the really important by-effects of cigarette smoking takes years to develop. And it may be decades before these unfortunate changes are sufficiently advanced to be recognized by the examining physician.

Thus it has only been in recent years that the medical profession became aware of the fact that sex differences in the effects of cigarette smoking were more apparent than real.

As women began to equal men in the long-continued use of one to two packs of cigarettes per day, year in and year out, they began also to show evidences of the same unhappy consequences.

Let me give you just two examples that indicate that it is of prime importance.

Until the middle of the present century, it was most unusual for even the experienced physician to see a certain type of lung cancer or a coronary thrombosis in a female patient.

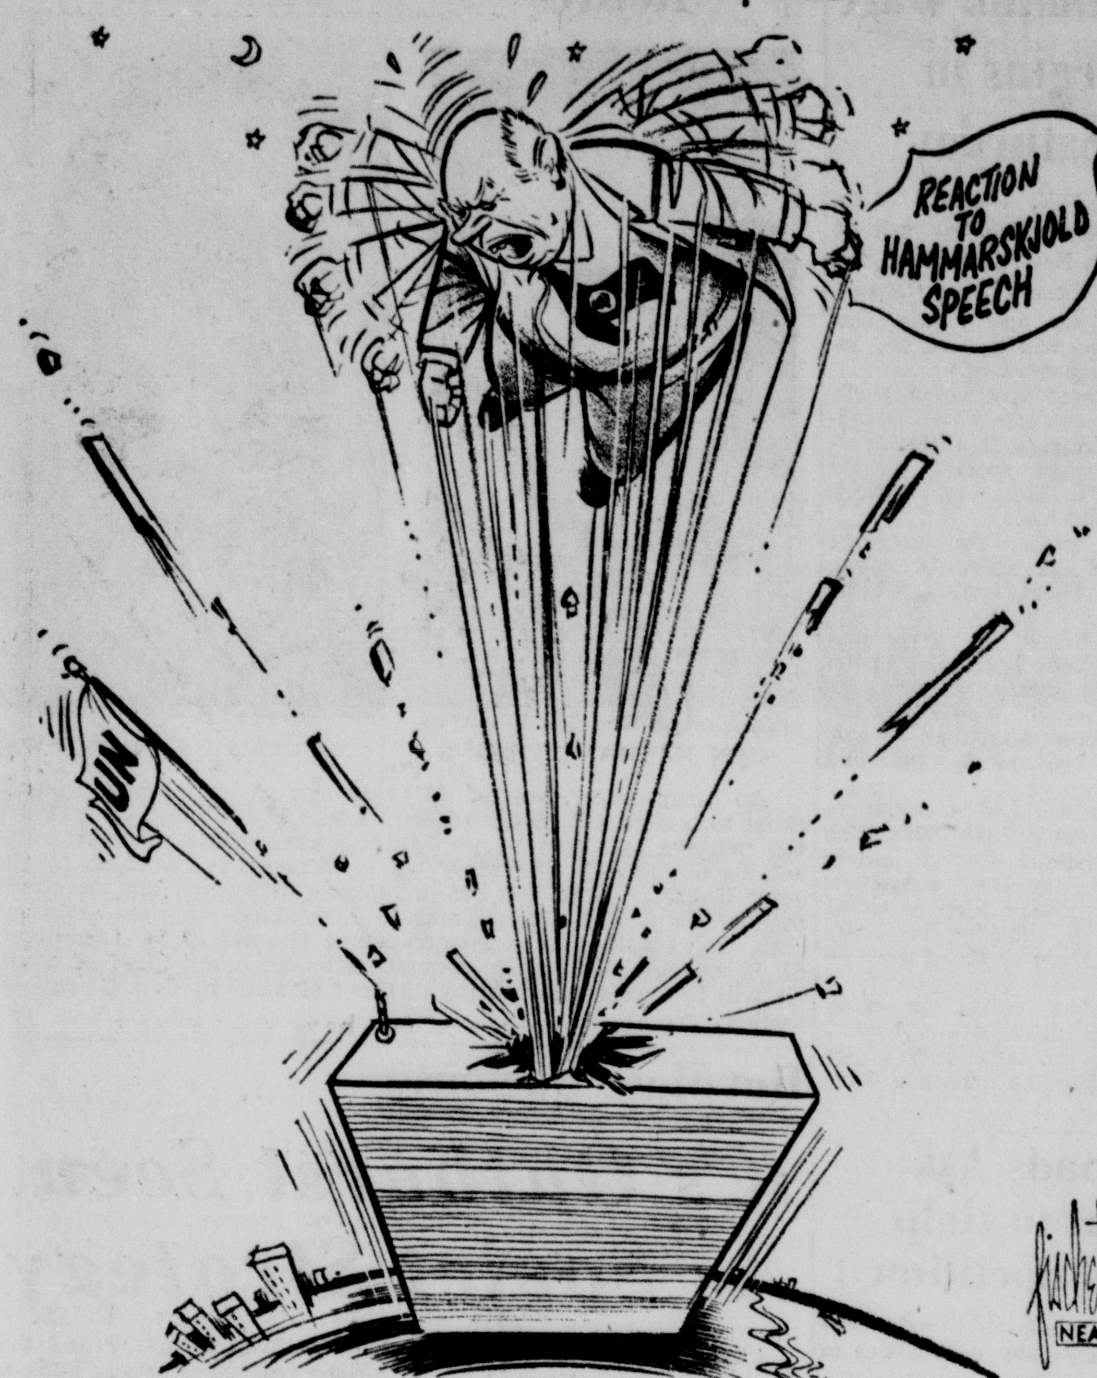

Presently this type of lung cancer (epidermoid) is being seen increasingly in women and, in each instance of epidermoid lung cancer, the patient was a long-standing smoker of more than a pack a day. (Wyander and associates, New England Journal of Medicine, volume 255, page 1,111—if you care to see the figures for yourself).

More recently, Drs. Goodale, Thomas and O'Neal, of Washington University in St. Louis, have made the startling observation, based on autopsy findings, that coronary thrombosis occurs as frequently in women over the age of 50 as it does in men.

I don't know how much these findings will impress my Co-ed correspondent. But maybe she'll admit that her parents and her "kill-jays" are not without reasons for our views.

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

First Soviet Man in Space

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn., Washington, (NEA)—A new table of International Communist priorities seems to be emerging from Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demands and proposals to the United Nations:

Reorganize the U. N. secretariat so as to make Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's job a three-man, Soviet-style presidency.

Make all dependent territories and trust territories independent immediately, to end the colonialist system.

Then move on to general and complete disarmament. These priorities are subject to instant change. For if there is one thing consistent about the Communist line, it is that policies can be changed overnight, whenever it is advantageous to do so.

A year ago, when Khrushchev appeared before the United Nations, his No. 1 goal was disarmament. He still rates it high.

But he has now imposed demands for reorganization of the U. N. secretariat and ending the colonial system as the prices that must be paid him to get him to consider disarmament.

Reorganization of the secretary general's job would require amendment of the U. N. charter. It might take a year or more. This is not easy.

An amendment must first be passed by a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly. The amendment is then submitted to all U. N. member governments for ratification by their constitutional processes. Two-thirds of the member governments must ratify, including the governments of the five permanent Security Council members—The United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China and Russia.

Assuming that one or all of the first four would not go along with the Khrushchev plan, it has no chance for acceptance.

This fact has raised the question as to whether Khrushchev really wants disarmament. He may be imposing new conditions to block it. This makes it a sinister, cynical program.

The interesting thing about it is that for the past five years the Russians have defeated all efforts to amend the U. N. charter for a legitimate and worthwhile purpose.

This is to enlarge the 11-member Security Council and the 18-member Economic and Social Council so as to give the 45 new nations admitted to membership since the U. N. was founded a fairer representation on its principal governing bodies.

There is an item on this year's General Assembly to make this change. It has been on the agenda since 1956 and it has been argued annually. But every year the Russians have blocked it.

Their contention has been that the UN charter, in its present form, met the essential purpose of the UN organization. So they opposed enlarging the Security Council and ECOSOC just as they opposed a new general conference of members to consider other revisions as provided for by the Charter itself.

RUSSIA'S REAL REASON for not being willing to consider any UN reorganization has been that this could be done only when Communist China had been admitted to UN membership, and presumably given Nationalist China's seat on the Security Council.

Firm U. N. Stand Is Urged Against Dictators' Savagery

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Perhaps no more pointed exhibition of governmental hypocrisy has ever been noted in the history of modern times than the sessions in recent days of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Here is an organization whose charter specifically proclaims that its main purpose is "to reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small." But what has the world witnessed in the proceedings of Assembly? The ostentatious speech-making and table-pounding of dictators gathered from far and wide to demonstrate their contempt for human rights and their determination to continue to maintain in bondage tens of millions of human beings.

Fifteen or more dictators have held the limelight—from the uncivilized, boorish Castro to the egomaniacal Khrushchev. These tyrants have been given television and news space and all the publicity treatment which heroes are wont to receive. There's nothing wrong with giving news attention to their antics, but where is the "equal time" for the champions of human liberty—for the spokesmen who can tell the other side of the controversy to the public at large in countries where the press is still free? Where are the crusaders for moral force, whose power can influence millions of people eventually to do battle for freedom?

Little About Slave States
As it is, Nikita Khrushchev makes a speech denouncing "colonialism" in the West, but relatively little is said about the cruel measures he himself has taken to maintain slave colonies in Hungary, in the Ukraine, in Poland, in East Germany, and in the other captive countries.

Prime Minister Macmillan made a very forceful speech, but it did not go far enough. It called for "self-determination" for the German people but did not remind the Soviets of the slavery imposed on the peoples of Eastern Europe.

The Soviet premier, on the other hand, dares to accuse the West of interference in Africa when his own henchmen have been guilty of sending military weapons and planes into the Congo to thwart the peace efforts of the United Nations itself. He boldly denounces the UN's Secretary General.

What Do They Fear?
What are the Western governments afraid of? Why do they keep on letting Khrushchev take the initiative?

Nothing has ever been lost for the cause of freedom by speaking out plainly. Everything has been lost by being timid in the face of the aggressions of a dictator. Even after the Soviet premier made his speech the other day and fraternized with Castro and the other dictators, did anybody except the courageous demonstrators on the streets voice the sentiment of the United Nations charter and demand that, instead of admitting a lot of nations still lacking the capacity for self-government, a public examination should be made of the sincerity and good faith of certain governments already members of the UN?

Charter Extracts
It is sickening, after reading provision after provision of the United Nations charter, to realize how flagrantly the words have been disregarded by the Communists in every conceivable kind of violation of human rights. For instance, in the charter these paragraphs appear: "All members... shall fulfill in good faith the obligations assumed by them in accordance with the present charter."

"All members... shall refrain from giving assistance to any state against which the United Nations is taking preventive or enforcement action."

"A member of the United Nations which has persistently violated the principles contained in the present charter may be expelled from the organization by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Security Council."

It is true the Soviet government holds a veto in the Security Council, but who among the Western spokesmen has called for a revision of the charter so that an accused country shall not be permitted, as a matter of procedure, to vote in the council during its trial at the bar of justice? Surely there is not much use arguing about the fine points of the "Connally Reservation" and the jurisdiction of a World Court to settle disputes when the U. N. General Assembly itself—the most important forum yet devised in international relations—repeatedly passes up an opportunity to strike a blow for human freedom against the savagery and tyranny of the dictatorship states in the world today.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Wall Street Journal says "few Americans, we suppose, would disagree with this statement: 'The U. S. government is not the enemy of the people.'"

That triple-jointed negative almost hides its own meaning, but in simple Americanese, the WSJ means to argue that the U. S. government is not the enemy of the people.

That proposition is a mistake which I will now refute.

In the first place, however, be it understood that "the government" is not the country, but the country's political management. It consists of a gang of politicians who, by the time they have achieved power in Washington, have lost their natural respect for the rights of people as human beings and their own sense of honor as individuals. The bureaucracy, in descending scale, is an auxiliary of the management. Owing its living and its powers to the management, this monstrous mass obeys the management's evil design against the people. This truth is seen in terrifying clarity whenever an unfortunate citizen oversteps himself against the management or the president and may find himself harried by the Internal Revenue Bureau. He is a citizen alone, but the management has literally thousands of fly-cops, accountants, cowed and servile informants hidden in the counting rooms of banks, and swarms of lawyers to throw into action against him. The government does not worry. It sleeps well.

But the victim must hire his own lawyers and accountants and pay for court records at as much as $4 a page. He is ruined. His earnings stop and his assets are seized by order of the government's own judges who are, in the main, low fellows, with the politician's loyalty to the machine which put them on easy street for life. So the government destroys its critic and the warning is plain to all others.

Very brief association with the management in Washington creates within the politician a second self, sordid and utterly dishonest, which lives by a code of rules and morals repulsive to his normal, personal self.

Thus we find even Senator Barry Goldwater, an amazingly decent man in his private self, as a friendly case with Jack Kennedy even though he has accused Kennedy of complicity in conduct which ought to forbid even the bleak civility of a soundless movement of the lips in a capital elevator. Goldwater ought to despise Kennedy. But this immoral condition permits members of the management as such to commit flagrant acts without inner shame or public embarrassment.

I am confident that this will be put down as vitriolic, scurrilous, insensate temper, but I have developed a serene contempt for the servile, irresistible hankering for royalty which always unnerves Americans in the presence of a President. This was worse in the case of Roosevelt II, but three presidents who have reigned since I came of age have thrown my country into wars which were none of our business and in each case Congress, as part of the managerial apparatus, gave overwhelming consent. But the people certainly were unwilling because they resorted to a maze of excuses to escape the draft. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Henry Morgenthau were conspicuously indispensable to the home front in the first war, but nobody was more ferocious in hounding appeasers into the ranks in the second.

The government is an immoral institution, for it commits outrages which would be criminal, if they were done by individuals. The repudiation of gold by Franklin D. Roosevelt was a colossal swindle which, on appropriate scale, would have been statutory fraud by George Spelvin. Social security is another, in which the people are forced to buy annuities of uncertain value on the seller's terms and subject to constant upward revision of the price.

The members of a whole nation are guilty of the crimes of the general management, as Eleanor Roosevelt said of the German people when she wanted to punish them for Hitler's misconduct.

By the same process, Walter Reuther's subjects are personally guilty of the crimes of the UAW, for the UAW is government imposed on 300,000 faceless men. Thus also the national U. S. management is imposed on a baby who is born today. (Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Primitive Mantle Is On Nikita

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—If Premier Nikita Khrushchev is trying to create the impression he's a dangerous man to thwart—because he has not only a bad but an uncontrollable temper—he's succeeded.

War could come out of a sudden temper tantrum.

Not Scaring West
But being dangerous is not synonymous with creating fear. It can create contempt. He is not scaring the Western powers. It's too soon to say whether he has made the small and neutral nations jittery.

His conduct in the United Nations to date raises this question: Is this leader and representative of the Soviet Union the best the Russian people can produce?

It wouldn't be surprising if his days in Russia are numbered.

He has scolded, mocked, threatened, attacked and created disturbances by heckling in the U.N. hall and pounding the table. In a place where decorum and not outbursts is supposed to prevail he has made himself a spectacle.

If he keeps up this performance his mission will probably be a failure to this extent: that instead of bulldozing the rest of the world he will have made himself loathsome.

His four interruptions Thursday—when British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was addressing the U. N. General Assembly—came under the head of bad manners, at the least.

The more Khrushchev gets loose in public the more he looks like a primitive.

Had Stage to Himself
Last week—during and after his own speech in the United Nations—Khrushchev attacked the West, belittled it, condemned it, tried to immobilize the United Nations itself by a proposal to revamp it, and threatened to reject disarmament unless he had his way.

No one interrupted him. He had the stage to himself.

Thursday, Macmillan, in the course of outlining a three-stage approach to "the key problems of disarmament," accused the Communist bloc of using outworn and obsolete slogans to distort issues.

This was too much for Khrushchev, who had dished out much worse a few days before. He became steadily more angry.

And when Macmillan said the West wouldn't buy the Russian's demand for revamping the U. N., Khrushchev began pounding the table. As Macmillan went on, Khrushchev wagged his finger at him and shouted.

Delegates Appalled
Associated Press reporters said never in its 15-year history had the U. N. General Assembly seen such a performance. They quoted some delegates as saying they were appalled.

It was the first time any member of the United Nations had heckled a fellow delegate. Later, outside the United Nations, Khrushchev denounced and belittled Macmillan although he was supposed to—and did—confer with him an hour later.

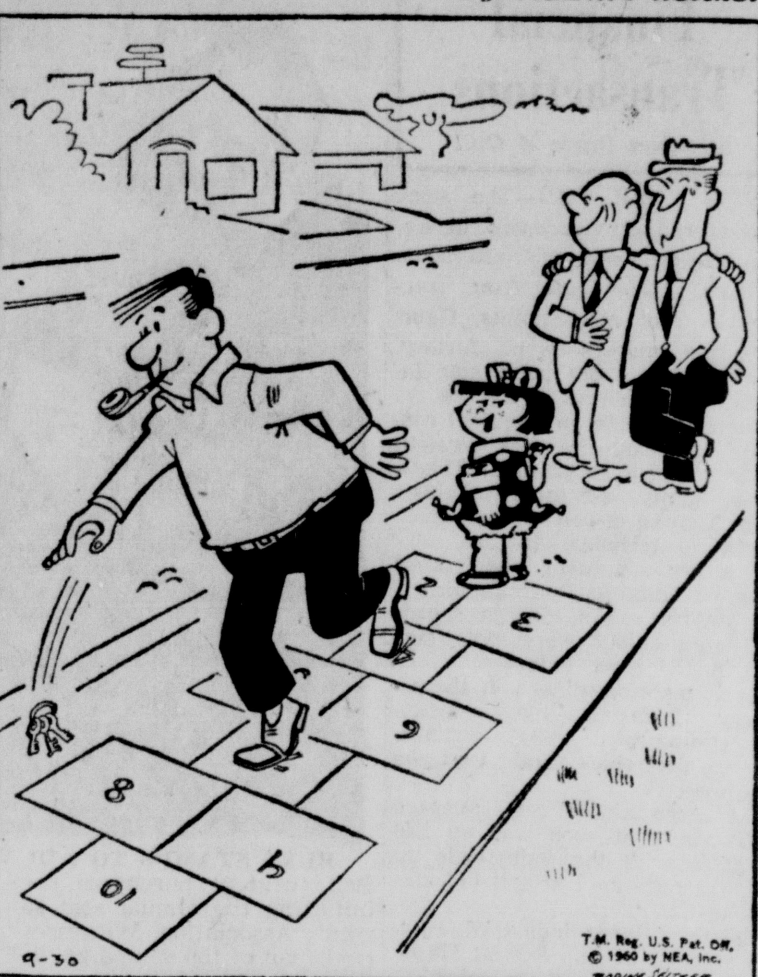

There is a point where a man stops looking bad-tempered and begins looking childish, where a bully-boy becomes a nuisance.

Khrushchev is close to that point. There is something barbarous in the conduct of a man who insults and belittles others—as Khrushchev in the past few months has done to President Eisenhower and the West—and then thinks a handshake wipes the slate clean.

Khrushchev is rapidly becoming not the best Russian to do business with but the worst.

Orange County Phone Sale Is Refused by PSC

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission denied permission today for purchase of the Orange County Telephone Co. by the General Telephone Co. of Upstate New York.

The commission objected to financial arrangements that had been proposed for a transaction "at some indefinite future date."

The two companies may make a new application, the PSC said, if they eliminate the provisions that led to today's disapproval.

Orange County Telephone, with headquarters in Middletown, serves 17,500 customers in Orange, Ulster and Sullivan counties. General Telephone serves 50,000 customers in 11 Upstate counties.

The commission said the proposed sale called for a delay in the actual transfer of Orange County Telephone facilities until expiration of a trust set up by the late Edwin Fancher, former president. This, the commission said, was to enable the trustees of the estate to avoid incurring tax liabilities in the transaction.

PSC Examiner William T. Wilkinson said in a report adopted by the commission that the proposed deferment would have benefited the stockholders of Orange County Telephone and not its customers.

For that reason, Wilkinson said, the purchase plan was not in the public interest.

Rocky Praises Record of Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller says the record of the Eisenhower administration has been a "stirring" reminder of what Republican leadership means to the country.

And he says a majority of the American people are coming to a realization that the GOP has both the program and the candidates to provide the leadership that the future demands.

Rockefeller was the principal speaker Thursday night at a $100-a-plate dinner attended by 2,350 persons. Tickets were bought by 650 others who did not attend.

Dewey Visits Home Town

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey has gone a long way from Owosso but the city of his youth still remains close to his heart.

Dewey, former governor of New York and two-time unsuccessful Republican candidate for the presidency, returned to Owosso again Thursday. The last time he came home was six years ago when his mother, Mrs. Annie Dewey, died.

"This wasn't here before," he said many times during his three-hour stay.

He was accompanied on his tour by his cousin, Mrs. Harriett Welch, and her husband, Sherman.

"I haven't spent much leisure time here in years," Dewey said with nostalgia. "After all, it was my home until I was 23 and graduated from law school."

Road Deaths Hit Record Low for 1st Eight Months

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation had its safest eight months of highway travel in history from January through August 1960, the National Safety Council said today.

The record low mileage death rate was set despite a slight increase in fatalities compared to the first eight months of 1959, the council said. It gauges highway safety on the basis of miles traveled, and the mileage thus far this year increased 2 per cent over last year.

There were 5.1 deaths per 100 million motor vehicle miles in 1960. The previous record low—5.2 per 100 million—was set in 1958.

The council counted 24,010 highway fatalities from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, compared to 23,890 for the same period last year. Disabling injuries this year totaled 850,000. The death toll in August was 3,470 compared to 3,510 in August 1959.

Children Die in Fire

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. (AP)—Smoke killed three children in their beds Thursday night when a fierce fire burned out the television den in the family's Long Island home.

Flames, intense heat and dense smoke prevented rescue attempts by their parents, neighbors and volunteer firemen.

Edward J. Mallon III, 8, and his brother, Charles, 5, were found dead in their bedroom. Edward's body lay behind a door, where he apparently had tried to get out. Charles' body was under a dresser.

Their sister, Virginia, 11, was dead in bed in an adjoining bedroom.

Syracuse Youth Killed

BALDWINVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—George Van Tassel, 18, of Syracuse, was killed Thursday night when he fell out a door of a skidding automobile and was crushed underneath the wheels, sheriff's deputies said.

The accident occurred on a county highway about four miles west of this village near Syracuse.

Union Treasurer From Cairo Is Indicted for $770

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—John O. Haverlick of Cairo, Greene County, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on a charge of embezzling $770 from a union local of which he was treasurer.

His indictment was the first of a union official under a new law that makes embezzlement of union funds a federal offense.

U.S. Atty. Theodore Bowes said Haverlick took the money from Local 420 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union between Sept. 14, 1959 and last March 16.

Other Indictment
The grand jury also indicted Royner C. Greene Jr. of Ithaca, son of a former Cornell basketball coach, on four counts of embezzlement involving money orders. The elder Greene now is coaching at North Park College near Chicago.

Bowes said young Greene operated a money-order counter at a gift shop his father had owned in Ithaca.

Last June, Bowes said, Greene wrote 13 money orders for $100 each and cashed them in his own name. Later, Greene made out another $1,300 worth of money orders in a move to replace the money, Bowes said.

Frank Masle Sr. of Little Falls was indicted on nine counts of operating a still. The counts involved failure to pay the tax on alcoholic beverages, failure to post a bond and producing unlicensed distilled spirits.

Curtis Indicted for Murder Of Brother, Vagrant for Attack on Woman in Bakery

IN NEW POST
—Charles R. Burrows, a career diplomat, is the new U.S. ambassador to Honduras. He was minister-counsel of the U.S. embassy in Caracas.

Newton Curtis, 61, of Quarryville was today charged by the grand jury with first degree murder for the bed slat slaying of his brother, Oliver (Jack) Curtis, 62, on Aug. 25, following a dispute over who should be caretaker at a camp near Quarryville.

The first degree murder charge was one of 25 indictments returned by the April grand jury in a final report to County Judge Louis G. Bruhn.

Also named in an indictment was Burrell Gibson Anderson, 41 year old vagrant, charged with assaulting Molly Rehr, 38, of 3 Spring Street, at the Rehr Bakery, 101 Broadway, on June 30. Anderson is charged with attempted robbery first degree and second degree assault.

There were 11 open indictments, 14 sealed and seven dismissals. None of the defendants was arraigned.

A presentment was also filed with the report. The grand jury, which had investigated irregularities of a Town of Gardiner clerk, recommended that town officials familiarize themselves before election to office and also from time to time after as to their duties; that the town board show a greater interest in town affairs and town officials; that the town clerk be notified by the county clerk in writing of failure to file required reports on time; and that the state audit of public funds annually be made mandatory.

Since the April grand jury was empaneled a total of 83 cases have been presented by District Attorney Raymond J. Mino and his staff. As a result there have been 62 indictments returned in several partial reports and 21 dismissals.

In commenting on the unusual number of dismissals Judge Bruhn remarked that this was evidence that the grand jury was not a "rubber stamp" for the district attorney but acted on its own after evidence had been presented.

Financial Transactions

Financial Transactions

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied vigorously in active trading early this afternoon. Pivotal issues rose from fractions to 2 or more points. Gains of wider movers went further, about half a dozen points for International Business Machines.

The list was in an oversold condition following the five straight declines which ended with Thursday's spotty advance, analysts said. They ascribed the advance chiefly to technical factors.

A better sentiment about steel sales, a gain in manufacturers' new orders and a rise in scheduled auto output were plus factors in the news ledger.

Steels were prominent in the recovery. Chemicals, autos, electrical equipments, rails, airlines, drugs, electronics and tobaccos also rose.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.70 to 205.40 with the industrials up 3.20, the rails up 1.00 and the utilities up .20.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 8.29 at 578.88. Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

of the Soviet delegation to see Khrushchev.

Earlier, Khrushchev had given the General Assembly a totally new experience while Macmillan was speaking. The Russian pounded the desk in apparent anger, rose from his seat to gesticulate and broke in on Macmillan with shouted remarks in Russian.

Some listeners thought he yelled out, "Don't commit aggression!" Others understood him to say, "Don't send over any more U2s!" There were varying interpretations of his belated remarks about disarmament.

Like Slurping Soup

But there was no disagreement that he had ripped the diplomatic book of etiquette to shreds, with a performance comparable to slurping soup at a white-tie dinner.

Macmillan took it with cool disdain. He reacted only to say, "I would like to have a translation of those remarks." Assembly President Frederick H. Boland of Ireland finally gavelled Khrushchev back into his seat.

Observers noted that Khrushchev had sat like a stone, motionless and silent, during Eisenhower's speech last week.

Holds Little Hope

Before Macmillan arrived for his evening appointment with the Soviet leader, Khrushchev came out in the rain-swept streets to talk to reporters as he usually does.

"I hold out little hope in this meeting with Macmillan," he said. He compared Macmillan to Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who signed the Munich agreement with Adolf Hitler. And he likened Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany to Hitler.

"Adenauer is preparing for war," he asserted.

Then he rained his guns on Eisenhower: "The President himself says he will continue to send planes over our territory, and we'll continue to shoot them down. What good does this do? We want friendly relations, and we want to negotiate for this friendship."

He ducked the question, as usual, of whether he would see Eisenhower. But he did say, "I am here in New York, not in Moscow."

Macmillan and Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, arrived shortly after 6 o'clock.

The conference went on for more than two hours.

Russell, Macmillan's press secretary, later told newsmen, "Each side expressed their views and held to them."

Students Favor Nixon

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—A Princeton University undergraduate poll shows 70.6 per cent of the students favor Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president.

Some 1,577 students—55 per cent of the student body—were asked by the Daily Princetonian, the campus newspaper, for whom they would vote.

Nixon received 1,187 votes and Sen. John F. Kennedy, his Democratic opponent, 490.

Some 933 Nixon supporters said their inclination to support him was strengthened by the presence of former U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge on the ticket as candidate for vice president.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, Kennedy's running mate, strengthened the convictions of 123 Kennedy supporters, but weakened the support of 175.

Fidel Raps Candidates

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Bearded, 34-year-old Fidel Castro today attacked Richard M. Nixon, 47, and John F. Kennedy, 43, as "two illiterate, ignorant, beardless kids."

This was only one of the insults that the Cuban Prime Minister hurled at the two American presidential candidates in expanding the attack he was not permitted to continue before the U.N. General Assembly.

"I'm sure that if Soviet Premier Khrushchev spent six months in the United States, he would get more votes than Kennedy," Castro declared in an unscheduled post-midnight television appearance.

Filipino Improves

ROME (AP)—Philippine Sen. Claro M. Recto, 70, who suffered a heart attack during a news conference Thursday, was reported greatly improved after a night's rest. The senator, a critic of U.S. foreign policy, is on a three-month tour of Europe and South America.

Investment Club Can Raise Profit Potential

Q "Our 16-member investment club has been operating for two years. We are presently debating the merits of further diversification of our portfolio or building up what we have. In the past, we have sold Olin Mathieson at a fair loss, Roan Antelope at a small loss, Safeway Stores at a small profit, Royal Dutch at a big loss, and American Machine & Foundry at a very large profit. Our present holdings are Aluminum Ltd., American Telephone, Burroughs, General Motors, General Telephone, Minnesota Mining, Revlon, Standard Packaging, Texas Instruments and Union Carbide. Should we sell any of these stocks and purchase others?"

M. S.

A I believe your list is sufficiently diversified at the present time and that your holdings in the aggregate represent good quality. On the basis of these two factors alone, I don't believe any changes are needed. However, there are some suggestions I would like to make which might improve your profit potential. Your biggest gain to date has been made in American Machine & Foundry, because this company is strong in automatic pinsetters, a new-growth type of business which is not tied to the business cycle. I think perhaps you might lighten up in some of your cyclical or slower growth issues, such as Aluminum Ltd., Burroughs, and Standard Packaging. I suggest as replacements Burry Biscuit (ASE), Brunswick (NYSE), and Friden (OTC).

Q "I am a 49-year-old mother with an 8-year-old son. I don't have much money to invest but I could use extra income. Would Marine Midland be good?"

A Yes, I think Marine Midland (NYSE) would fit your needs nicely. The shares currently yield around 4 per cent, and future dividend increases are likely. You might also consider Firstamerica (NYSE), another strong bank holding company, operating on the West Coast where growth is very rapid.

the sharpest language he has used to date.

He said the record of Kennedy and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, his vice-presidential running mate, in the short session of Congress, "was a monumental failure" and that "a monumental failure is no recommendation for leadership for the United States of America today."

Says Proposals Wrong

He said Kennedy's campaign proposals "are wrong and out of step with what the American people think" and that the voters are going to "say no" to him on Nov. 8th.

Nixon said in the 1962 campaign both Eisenhower and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson agreed "there was a mess in Washington."

In 1960, he added, "the American people are not going to turn to a man and his party who made the mess eight years ago."

Over and over, he called the short session of Congress, which failed to enact Kennedy's $1.25 minimum wage, federal-aid-to-education and other bills, "the Kennedy Congress."

"Our opponents have a performance gap as wide as the dangerous missile gap which they handed over to President Eisenhower to straighten out along with the rest of the debris they left behind," Nixon told his applauding admirers.

Nixon's campaign trail led today to Bangor, Maine, and on to Troy, N. Y.

Blas Wipes Out Family

MARSHALL, Mich. (AP)—A mysterious explosion and fire destroyed a rural home near here today, wiping out a sleeping family of five. Searchers recovered all five bodies.

Officers said the bodies were distributed throughout the ruins of the 1 1/2-story frame home in Convis Township, about nine miles northwest of here.

The blaze destroyed the home of Delmar Brown, 25; his wife, Hilda, 24; and three children, Pamela, 5, Daniel, 3 and Sally, a year old.

Honor Justice Schirick

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick of Kingston was guest of honor at a dinner at Mahota's Restaurant, Hudson by Columbia County Bar Association on Thursday night. He completed his final term of Supreme Court in Columbia County yesterday. Justice Schirick will retire at the end of this year, having reached the court age limit of 70.

Napanoch Riot

feet and assisted other guards in bringing the riot under control. The attack on Butler came as the last of the prisoners were being led away to their cells.

Struck in Face

McKendrick, who was standing close by, said Butler was struck in the face by an inmate, about 25 years old. The blow with a fist knocked Butler down, causing his head to strike the concrete floor.

McKendrick described the attack on the guard as "unprovoked," explaining that the man has manifested a hostile and aggressive attitude since his incarceration.

Butler was felled by a "vicious blow," the superintendent told The Freeman.

He said that the men were being fed in the mess hall today but that special precautions have been taken. The shops have not been reopened.

On May 20, 1959, there was a disturbance at the institution which arose as the result of conflict between minority racial groups.

Shortly thereafter a union of prison personnel complained to the State Commission of Correction, charging the superintendent with laxity and incompetence. An investigation followed and McKendrick was given the commission's full support.

Praised After Jail Probe

Following a surprise inspection of Columbia County Jail Thursday to investigate complaints of seven prisoners, a grand jury dismissed the purported grievances and commended Columbia County Sheriff Dewey A. Lawrence on the facilities. The grand jury said the facilities were adequate and the jail extremely clean.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
A BLOODY TRUTH

Now that the rival candidates are outbidding each other as to which will open the door of the Treasury the widest to the hungry throng, I am reminded what the smart Eskimos are said to do to protect themselves from the wolves.

The Eskimos freeze into the ice the handles of razor-sharp knives, with the blades sticking up. They smear the blades with the blood of seals. The wolves lick the blades, cut their own tongues and are overjoyed at what seems to be an unending supply of good, nourishing red blood!

They keep licking and licking and bleeding and swallowing their own blood, until the blood-thirsty brutes keel over and die, at which time the remaining wolves eat them!

Such is the history of great civilizations of the past. Sir Flinders Petrie, the famous archaeologist, wrote that democracies eat themselves through excessive taxation until they collapse and are succeeded by the Man on Horseback or the rank growth of the jungle.

In place of visible taxation, they often resort to invisible taxation, that is, inflation of the money supply. This causes prices to rise and each dollar to lose value. This is a forced transfer of the savings of the thrifty into the pockets of the "gimmies."

I'm all for the old saying, "Don't Sell America Short." But against that is another truth: "The last straw broke the camel's back."

Ursula Alumnae Scores Success With Annual Show

A showing of luxurious furs, finest in millinery and latest in jewelry were the keynotes of the annual fashion show and card party given by the Academy of St. Ursula Alumnae Association last night in the high school auditorium.

With Amelia Altamari at the keyboard and Dorothy A. Narel doing the commentaries, a capacity audience enjoyed viewing the latest in fur jackets, stoles, and full length minks along with the finest of millinery and jewelry.

Fashion trends in fur unveiled last night included kimono and bracelet length sleeves, box styles as well as fitted blouse types with portrait, shawl and cape collars. Combining two different furs in a jacket or coat is still leading the fashion parade.

The newest shades in millinery were also unveiled at last night's showing. These included the complimentary colors of plum and pink, emerald green, sapphire blue, moss green and the newest, — beaver. High crowns in toque and oriental styles lead the parade with small brims, usually turned down to accent the eyes.

Modeling were the Mmes. Bernadette Olin, Antoinette Weber, Joan Ann Mahoney and the Misses Mimi Feeney, Alice Danahy, Linda Regan.

A welcoming address was made by Miss Joan Woinoski, chairman of the event.

A card party was held after the show. Refreshments were also served.

Public Is Invited To Photography Exhibit at College

An exhibition of photography by Robert Capa will be on display in the College Union of the State University College of Education, New Paltz, beginning Sunday at 3 p. m. The general public is invited to attend or to view the exhibition anytime until October 19. Tea will be served by the faculty wives Sunday following the opening.

In connection with the opening, Cornell Capa, brother of the late photographer, Robert Capa, will present an informal discussion about the exhibition.

Robert Capa was born in Budapest, in 1915. At the age of 18 he left Hungary for Berlin where he began his photographic career as a dark room assistant while attending the University. Later he moved to Paris where he struggled for recognition as he took pictures of the ominous events of the thirties. He was in Spain in 1936 to photograph the Civil War and those pictures brought him his first fame as a photo journalist. The following year he traveled to China, where he reported on the Japanese invasion. In 1939, he returned to Europe later than year made his visit to the United States. In 1941, he left for England and for the next four years photographed the war in the European Theatre as a correspondent for Life and other magazines.

In 1947, he helped to found Magnum Photos, an international cooperative photographic agency that has since grown to include twenty photographers of eight nationalities working throughout the world.

From 1947 to 1954 Capa's energies and talents were largely given over to fostering and strengthening Magnum, but he still found time for his own photographic development. In 1948, he went to Israel to report the struggles of a new nation, and in 1954, he went on assignment to the Indo-China War where he was killed by a land mine. He is survived by his mother and brother.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Witness," CBS' new series in which an investigating committee purports to look into the career and crimes of notorious real-life figures, started Thursday night.

The committee was composed of real lawyers and the witnesses—including one playing Lucky Luciano, the deported gangster—were professional actors. The questions and answers were all ad-libbed.

It was like nothing I've ever seen on television before. But the result was as if the old Kefauver committee hearing, "The Verdict is Yours" and the last of a professional football game were rolled into one.

Perhaps it would have made sense of a sort if they hadn't filled the hearing room with a mob of spectators who hammed up their "crowd noises" to a point where questions and answers were difficult to follow and even diverted the actors and lawyers. Decision reserved.

Fred MacMurray's "My Three Sons" came along a bit later on ABC. Perhaps it was the contrast from the other new show, but I found it calming, neat, tidy and even amusing. The idea is that widower MacMurray is attempting to bring up his three sons in a motherless household with help from his father-in-law, played in perky style by William Frawley. It promises to be a pleasant if innocuous situation comedy, sort of a wholesale switch on "Bachelor Father."

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

GOING HOME ALONE AT NIGHT

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother insists that the average American girl of today, is killing the little gallantry that still remains from her day. She'd even expect a man to brave the commuting rush out of the city after office hours, to fetch a girl right back to town, rather than permit the girl to meet him in town. She is rule-bound, however, on his letting her go home alone afterward, even when it means that he has to ride equally as far out of town in the opposite direction. I feel sure that today's etiquette is not as inflexible as my mother's.

Answer: It is quite proper for her to meet him at the restaurant or in the lobby of the theatre they are going to. But after their evening, seeing her home safely is a very different matter. To leave her at her train may, quite truthfully, be safe enough, but it is not according to the code of a gentleman to permit any young woman to go home alone late in the evening.

Writing to Son's Future In-Laws
Dear Mrs. Post: What should I do in our case: My son became engaged and soon after his fiancée visited us. However, her home is five hundred miles from ours and there's no possibility of my meeting her family before my wedding. We saw the girl personally but is there anything I should write the mother?

Answer: Merely write how much you like her daughter and that you are looking forward to meeting them. This should be a natural impulse of friendliness surely easy to follow.

Eating a Sticky Cinnamon Bun
Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way to eat a sticky cinnamon bun at the breakfast table? I say it should be eaten with a knife and fork because it makes the hands sticky. My husband's answer to this is, "Whoever heard of eating a cinnamon bun with a knife and fork?"

Answer: I agree with your husband absolutely.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Mao Disputes K Again

TOKYO (AP) — Excerpts published today from a new volume of Red China Chairman Mao Tse-tung's works again dispute Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's thesis that war is inevitable. Mao has said that it is impossible to compromise with imperialism and the alternative is a "just war."

The new collection will be released in Chinese bookstores Saturday, the 11th anniversary of the formation of the Red Peiping government. The excerpts were issued today by the official New China News Agency.

Some 82,241 fires in Canada last year caused property damage estimated at $120,500,000.

Will Complete 27
Years of Service
With IRS Office

Morton Finch of 154 Ten Broeck Avenue, who on November 1 will have completed 27 years of federal service, was the guest of honor Thursday evening at The Kirkland Hotel where his associates presented him with a gift.

While his actual retirement from federal service will not begin until November 1, Finch will be going on vacation Oct. 1.

Was Revenue Official

Well known in this area where for many years he has been associated with civic affairs, Finch has been with the Kingston Internal Revenue Service office as a revenue officer since completion of 14 years as local field representative for the Howevers Loan Corp., a federal agency.

Born in New York City, Finch has been a resident of Kingston practically all his life. During World War I he served with the 147th U. S. Engineers, and is a past commander of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, serving in 1929-30.

Finch served the 10th Ward for two terms from 1932 to 1936 as supervisor and has held the office of president of Ulster County Supervisor's Association. Active in volunteer fireman affairs, Finch served as president of Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association and is also a past president of the Glenelg Lake Association.

Served as Timekeeper

During the period when the American Legion sponsored boxing bouts in this area, Finch served as official timekeeper and is remembered throughout the area as the "Old Timekeeper."

Since assuming his duties as a revenue officer with the local Internal Revenue Service office, he has made a wide acquaintanceship and has many friends who will wish him well in his retirement from Federal service.

Always active, Finch prefers not to be called a "retired man" even though he will no longer be associated with the position he has held so many years.

After taking a well earned vacation, Finch expects to enter the real estate brokerage business about the first of the year. He has had considerable prior experience in that field and holds a broker's license.

To Enter Business

Referring to his "retirement," Finch explained that he would be unable to sit back and "take it easy." "I will keep my hand in by reentering the real estate business," Finch stated.

Victor A. Scileppi, group supervisor of the local Internal Revenue office, on behalf of those attending the dinner at The Kirkland, presented Finch with a gift. John J. Scully, revenue officer, associated with the local office was dinner chairman.

President Plugs
Nixon, Trained
Men Held Vital

CHICAGO (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the free people must not give up hope that persons living under tyrannical dictatorships ultimately will have the right to decide their fate by free vote.

The President spoke to the Polish American Congress after delivering his first full-fledged speech of the presidential campaign Thursday night. In that address he said the country wants leadership from a trained team, not leadership "that sees only dark continents of despair" in American life.

His political speech was a plug for the candidacy of the Republican presidential and vice presidential candidates, Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

The President also touched on politics today in his speech to the Polish American Congress. He urged citizens to join in a move to get their neighbors to register and vote Nov. 8.

The congress, which says it represents seven million Americans of Polish ancestry, was founded in 1944 with the primary aim of countering Communist conspiracy at home and Soviet expansion abroad.

Pills Saved BB

NICE, France (AP) — Brigitte Bardot's suicide attempt may have been foiled by the sleeping pills she took.

The film queen was found Wednesday night in a coma from an overdose of sleeping pills and with her wrists slashed. The first doctor to reach her said she apparently was so sleepy from the pills that when she tried to wield the razor blade the cuts were only superficial.

The sexy actress was reported out of danger Thursday night by Dr. Jacques Namin, director of St. Francis Neurological Clinic.

People in the United States would own the largest percentage of autos if they were all paid for.

Young people are sometimes considered foolish because they don't know the things it takes 40 to 50 years to learn.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius Trade Mark Reg.

Man--Why isn't dinner ready? Wife--Oh, I've been downtown bargain hunting all afternoon, and I just couldn't get home in time.

Man--Huh! Like all women--looking for something for nothing I suppose?

Wife--Yes, indeed. Trying to get you a birthday present!

Money may be a little hoarse but it still talks.

First Music Critic--I wasted a whole evening by going to that new pianist's concert last night! Second Music Critic--Why? First Music Critic--His playing was above criticism.

How bright Orion is tonight. So that is O'Ryan, is it? replied Pat. Well, thank the Lord, there's one Irishman in heaven anyway.

Mother--... across the street and see how old Miss Brown is well.

This morning. A few minutes later the little boy returned with this report. Little Boy--Miss Brown says it's none of your business how old she is.

Air Force Golf Record Broken
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Airman 2c Edward W. Moore shattered the course record at Randolph Air Force Base in the final round of the World Wide Air Force Golf Tournament Thursday.

But it was not enough to overtake the early lead of champion T-Sgt. Rudy Spiers of United Command. Spiers closed out with a 74 for a 72-hole total of 287.

Moore, Langley AFB, Va., zipped over the final 18 in 68, one stroke better than the old record set by pro Wes Ellis and Spiers. It gave him a 72-hole score of 292 and second place.

Third place went to Maj. Fred Moseley, Trux Field, Wis., with a 75 and total of 295. He is former Texas amateur champion.

M-Sgt. R. T. Prichard led the way in the senior division with a final round of 74 and total of 299. Team winner was United Command, made of Air Force Headquarters, Air Academy, Air University, Security Service and others with 1,195. Other team leaders were Tactical Air Command 1,213, Air Training Command 1,216, Air Defense Command 1,217 and Strategic Air Command 1,239.

KHS, Port Jervis Set For DUSO Tilt Tonight

Kingston High will open its 1960 football season tonight with a game against Port Jervis. The contest will take place at Dietz Stadium with kickoff time scheduled for 8 p. m.

The visitors have won their only start to date, beating Nyack last Friday, 18-0. Port Jervis hasn't beaten a KHS team since 1955.

As an added feature, the Kingston High School band, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, will present music before the game and also a halftime show.

Included will be a flag raising ceremony, a presentation of the new color guard and several songs.

The halftime show will be based on the community chest campaign and a short speech will be made by a representative of the chest. Judy Buckman will give a fire baton twirling demonstration.

Sports Fixer Found Guilty

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A suburban McKees Rocks dentist has been found guilty of trying to bribe two Pitt basketball players to fix games.

The verdict against Dr. Edward Sebastian was handed down Thursday by visiting Judge Ethan Allen Gearhart of Lehigh County following a non-jury trial. Judge Gearhart deferred sentencing. The maximum penalty is a $10,000 fine or 10 years imprisonment.

Dick Groat Returns to Buc Lineup

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates may give injured shortstop Dick Groat a comeback tryout tonight while the New York Yankees, zeroing in on their World Series date with the Bucs, are busy trying for the majors' longest winning streak in six years and an American League home run record.

Groat, sparking of Pittsburgh's first National League pennant winner in 33 years, hasn't played since Sept. 6. That was the night a slider thrown by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette broke his left wrist.

Now, with Milwaukee once more in Pittsburgh for a three-game season finale, Pirate manager Danny Murtagh may decide to find out whether Groat will be of any help when the World Series opens at Forbes Field next Wednesday.

The Yankees, who give right-hander Art Ditmar (15-9) a final tuneup in tonight's game against Boston, will be shooting for their 13th consecutive victory in the opener of the three-game set against the Red Sox. No major league club has won 13 in a row since the 1954 Yankees.

The American League champs also need just one home run to break the league mark of 190 they set in 1956.

St. Louis beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 in 10 innings Thursday night in the only game scheduled in the majors.

The Cards, winning on Ken Boyer's one-out double off reliever Larry Sherry (14-10) pulled within one game of the Braves again in their scrap for second place. Larry Jackson won his 18th with the help of reliever Lindy McDaniel's 27th save in the 10th after the Dodgers put the tying run on base.

Dodgers Near Attendance Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers might set an all-time National League home attendance record tonight.

But the seven digits in the attendance figure won't concern them as much as the third digit in Norm Larker's batting average. The Dodger first baseman was held to one hit in four appearances Thursday night as the St. Louis Cardinals pulled out of a four-game losing streak by edging Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings.

Larker's average slipped a fraction of a point to .324, leaving him a full point behind Dick Groat, the injured Pittsburgh shortstop.

Larker faces Don Cardwell of the Chicago Cubs tonight, and if he gets a hit his first time up he'll pull ahead of Groat, assuming Groat remains idle.

The Dodgers go into tonight's game with a season attendance total of 2,204,721. They need a crowd of 10,674 to break the league record of 2,215,404 set by the Milwaukee Braves in 1957.

If they fail to break it tonight they'll do it Saturday and still have a game left over.

Fearless Hoople Gives Secret of His Success

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Pigskin Prophet)

Egad. Hak-ka! Har-rumph! Have you noticed, dear readers, how many obstreperous college and high school eleven have suddenly seized what is vulgarly known as the dope bucket and sloshed it willy-nilly over the autumn landscape these beautiful weekends?

Indeed, their actions, which seemingly defy explanation, have driven many football forecasters to cover. But have no fear, your peerless prognosticator will continue on undaunted. Adversity has always brought out the best in the Hooples! Har-rumph! Why, in the battle of—no, the recounting of that famous episode in the Hoople history must wait till I've discharged my obligations to my local football fans.

As a special treat this week I will let you in on my innermost secrets of how I am picking Kingston High to whip Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie to beat Middletown and Saugerties to stop Arlington.

The Hoople System

You have to take the next equinox of the moon, find out what time the sun sets, divide by the square root of 3.427, subtract from the number of miles from Kingston to Upper Slavia and then add 14. With that simple arithmetic, Hoople has a basis for picking certain teams. Then you have to figure out the wind velocity on the day of the game divided by the number of fans in the stands the preceding week. Sound complicated? Not for Major Amos Barnaby Hoople.

Now, enough of this chitter-

Major College Elevens Have Trouble With Quarterbacks

Orange Faces Test Against Kansas Squad

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quarterback, that almost always necessary ingredient for a successful football team, is going to have the final say this weekend as to whether the nation's top college teams are going to make it through some pretty stiff tests.

Only one, top-ranked Mississippi, seems to have little worry when it faces Memphis State Saturday night.

However, the possible lack of a good quarterback may spoil the debut tonight of Miami (Fla.) when it launches one of college football's toughest schedules against North Carolina in the Orange Bowl.

Second-ranked Syracuse, which faces Kansas Saturday in the nationally televised game, has a pair of top-flight signal callers in Dave Sarette and Dick Easterly, and will face another good one in John Hadl.

Washington, ranked third in the current Associated Press Poll, has All-America Bob Schloredt poised to beat back Navy, and its sparkling halfback Joe Bellino.

Miami Hard Hit
But Miami coach Andy Gustafson isn't so fortunate. He lost starter Fran Curci, his vest-pocket-sized magician, through graduation, which also claimed understudy Theron Mitchell. The No. 3 man was Bill McClain, and he signed a pro baseball contract.

This year, with the likes of Syracuse, Notre Dame, Pitt, Air Force and Auburn coming up, Gustafson has only one quarterback who has seen any varsity action, and that sparsely in 1958. He is George MacIntyre, out last year with a broken wrist.

Mississippi quarterback Jake Gibbs has thrown three touchdowns and scored twice on short runs in helping Ole Miss win its first two games.

Northwestern (No. 6) is without signal-caller Dick Thornton as it opens its Big Ten campaign against Iowa.

Illinois, ranked fourth, and Ohio State, ninth-ranked, are outside the Big Ten this weekend. The Illini play host to West Virginia, while the Bucks meet Southern California.

Clemson (No. 7) the Atlantic Coast Conference kinglypin, meets Virginia Tech.

Tenth-ranked Georgia Tech, under coach Bobby Dodd, meets Florida under Bobby Dodd Jr. at quarterback. Both schools have won two.

Pitt at Oklahoma
Other top intercollegiate tilts feature Missouri at Penn State, Pitt at Oklahoma, Army at California and Baylor at LSU.

Michigan and Michigan State renew an ancient rivalry in the Big Ten while Notre Dame and Purdue meet in another closely rated game. Air Force is at Stanford and Arkansas meets Texas Christian in the Southwest's big battle.

Other top games:
East: Holy Cross at Boston U.; Penn at Dartmouth; Massachusetts at Harvard; Columbia at Princeton; Brown at Yale.

South: Vanderbilt vs. Alabama at Birmingham; The Citadel at Davidson; Wake Forest at Florida State, night; South Carolina at Georgia; Auburn at Kentucky, night; Duke at Maryland; Baylor at LSU, night.

Midie Hanover paid $16.90, High Hat $7.40. The divisions were worth $1,200 each.

Casey Studies Report by Spies

NEW YORK (AP)—All Casey Stengel knows about the Pittsburgh Pirates is what he reads in the papers, but the papers in this case are very special papers.

They are the voluminous notes provided by the New York Yankee scouts and spies, and other informants, on the strength and weaknesses of the National League champions the New Yorkers meet in the World Series starting next Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

The Yankee manager took occasion Thursday, an off day, to assemble his board of spies.

What Stengel learned is his secret, just as he alone knows who will pitch the first Series game.

Hank Beats Hank, Casey, That Is

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mid-

dleweight Hank Casey, virtually unknown six months ago, battled his way into a strong position for a title fight with his victory over favored Henry Hank Thursday night.

Although both boxers weighed 150 pounds at the Cow Palace, Henry Hank carried the heavier over. But San Francisco's Casey frustrated him with superior boxing and defensive strategy.

Hank, the No. 3 rated challenger from Detroit, had split two previous meetings with Casey. Thursday night he never could throw his devastating punches with effectiveness. Fighting for the first time in his home city, the Californian circled away from the power, scoring lefts and rights to the head when he saw openings.

Casey's manager, Billy Newman, said he had a telegram from manager Marv Jensen of champion Gene Fullmer promising a match if the titleholder turns back the challenge of Sugar Ray Robinson in Los Angeles Oct. 8.

Amateur Golfers Lead by Twenty

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — The United States team in the World Amateur Golf tournament held a phenomenal 20-stroke lead today at the halfway point in the 72-hole quest for the Eisenhower Cup.

The team, composed of Jack Nicklaus, Deane Beman, Bob Gardner and Billy Hyndman, totaled 413 strokes after 36 holes. Under the scoring system used here only the three low scores of any four-man team are counted.

Nicklaus, Ohio State University junior, toured the Merion Golf Club par 72 course in 67 Thursday, adding to his first day round of 66 for a 133 total. Beman, University of Maryland senior, had 71-67-138. Gardner, of New York City, 71-71-142, and Hyndman, of Philadelphia, 71-76-147.

The Great Britain-Ireland was second with 433, defending titlist Australia 439; Mexico and New Zealand tied at 442. South Africa 445 and Canada and Rhodesia-Nyasaland each 450.

Ridzik's 4-Hitter Ties Little Series

TORONTO (AP) —Steve Ridzik pitched a 4-hitter for the Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night for a 10-1 victory over Louisville to tie the Little World Series at 1-1.

Southpaw Dick Rehm, who couldn't complete the first inning, was tagged with the defeat. Steve Demeter led a 16-hit Toronto attack with two homers.

The clubs play again tonight before the series shifts to Louisville for the remaining necessary games. Southpaw ace Bob Hendley will be on the mound for the Colonels, facing Toronto lefthander Bob (Riverboat) Smith.

Foley Will Do 50

Years on Murder, 2nd

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) —Robert J. Foley, 21, once sentenced to death for the robbery-slaying of a taxi-driver, will serve 50 years to life in prison for second-degree murder.

Foley, whose first-degree murder conviction was nullified by the State Court of Appeals, pleaded guilty to the lesser charge Thursday. He was sentenced to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora by Justice Michael E. Sweeney of State Supreme Court.

Foley, of Saranac Lake, robbed and shot Kendrick Van Ornam, 50, also of Saranac Lake in June 1959.

After the state's highest court had ordered a new trial, Foley was transferred from Sing Sing Prison to the Franklin County Jail here. He and four other prisoners clubbed a turkey and escaped Aug. 12. All were captured the next day at Huntington, Que.

Three charges against Foley in connection with the jail break still are pending.

Woodstock SANE Chapter Replies To Area Attacks

Howard Koch, chairman of the Woodstock chapter of the Sane Nuclear Policy Committee, has addressed the following letter to this column. It deals with remarks made by Supervisor Abram F. Molyneux of the Town of Woodstock at the recent Republican Club and items which appeared in the Ontario Record.

The letter follows: "During the past two weeks, the Ontario Record 'as a public service' has reprinted portions of a speech by Senator Thomas Dodd, attacking the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy as 'infiltrated by Communists'."

"To keep the 'record' straight, Senator Dodd's speech on the floor of the Senate merely reflected his personal opinion and bias. In no sense is this the official position of the United States government or any responsible agency of the government."

"Senator Dodd's method became famous, or infamous, under the late Senator McCarthy. The formula is simple. If you are opposed to disarmament or any organized effort to lessen the danger of nuclear war, you label the opposition "Communist." In that way you never have to debate the merits of your opponents' case. You simply smear, or try to smear, them out of existence."

"At a recent Republican rally a political spokesman urged his audience to read these articles in the Record; in short, he endorsed the smear without reference to the actual program of SANE and added, gratuitously, that SANE is 'endorsed by the Woodstock Democratic Club.'"

No Relationship

"Let me say clearly that SANE has no relationship whatsoever to the Democratic Club or any other club or party. We are a completely non-partisan organization and our members include many registered Republicans as well as Democrats in this area as well as throughout the nation."

"It seems regrettable to us that this spokesman sought to make local political capital out of the sincere efforts of respected members of the community to increase public awareness of the greatest danger ever to confront mankind — a nuclear war that may very well mean the end of all humanity on earth."

"Different people may have different ideas as to how such a catastrophe can be averted, and everyone should be entitled to express his views on this all-important question."

"We believe the holocaust can only be averted, first of all, by the immediate cessation of all nuclear weapon testing — with adequate control and inspection. This is of the most immediate concern because the tests already held have poisoned the milk our children drink, the food we eat and the very air we breathe. (See the United Nations Report on Radiation, and Atomic Energy Commission report WASH 1008.) The damage already done to this and future generations is incalculable, but this we cannot change. However, to continue these tests, on whatever pretext or for whatever reason, seems to us nothing short of race suicide."

Outlines Beliefs

"Secondly, we believe every effort should be made to impress upon our political leaders the necessity of achieving an eventual general disarmament, a ban on the production of nuclear stockpiles. We also advocate negotiations, whenever possible, to obtain international cooperation in the control of missiles and the exploration of outer space."

"Among the advocates of this specific program are the following national and world figures, picked at random: Dr. Albert Schweitzer of Africa; Lord Russell of England; Premier Nehru of India; Pablo Casals; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; Alfred Landon; Governor Meyner of New Jersey; Steve Allen; Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick; Dr. Erich Fromm; Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review; Clarence Pickett, of the Friends' Service Committee; the Rev. Donald Harriman, minister of Community Church, New York; Rabbi Isidor Hoffman, religious counselor of Columbia University; Stanley Isaacs, New York City Councilman; Richard Neutra, architect; Lewis Mumford, author; Dr. Ralph Sockman, minister of Christ Church, New York; Dr. Edward J. Sparling, president of Roosevelt University, etc."

"These eminent people can hardly be accused of 'communism,' or in fact of any political bias whatsoever on the question of human survival. For this question, as has been pointed out by the speakers at our two successful educational meetings, is beyond politics. It is a moral question to which all people of good will, irrespective of nationality, race, creed or party, must subscribe. . . HOWARD KOCH."

Kennedy Rests At Home on Cape

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy took a partial respite from his presidential campaign today after assailing the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon's role in that field.

Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, lit into Nixon, his Republican rival for the White House, and indirectly into President Eisenhower in a speech at Syracuse, N. Y., Thursday night.

Then the Massachusetts senator flew to his home here, arriving well after midnight, for a one-day rest mixed with a little work. Kennedy's only announced political activity for the day was a scheduled morning address by telephone to a group of dairy farmers meeting in Syracuse.

The senator will be back on the campaign trail Saturday. He flies to Chicago in the morning to address the Polish-American Congress, then travels on to Minneapolis for a speech.

Rail Strike May Tie Up 20 Plants, Halt 25,000 Jobs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A strike by 550 South Buffalo Railway workers continued today as production ground to a halt at the Buffalo Steel Corp. plant in nearby Lackawanna.

A meeting of representatives of two striking railroad unions and the railway was called by W. F. Klatte of the National Mediation Board.

The strike began Thursday morning when members of Lodge 758, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Lodge 668, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, walked out in a dispute over work rights.

The South Buffalo Railway is a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel Corp., and serves 20 waterfront industries.

A pre-strike estimate indicated 25,000 workers could be idled, and production halted or curtailed at nearly 20 industrial plants, including the Bethlehem plant where 16,000 are employed.

But operations were nearly normal Thursday at all but the Bethlehem shops. A company spokesman said 3,000 steelworkers were idled, but union sources said 5,000 were out of work.

Some steelworkers not affected by the strike refused to cross picket lines, but there was no indication how many of those workers stayed off the job.

'Gordian Knot'

The expression "to cut the Gordian knot" stems from Alexander the Great. When he led his army through Gordium (now Mihailik, Turkey) in 333 B.C., he came upon a fabled wagon whose pole was tied to the yoke with an intricate knot. It had been publicized that whoever untied the knot would become ruler of all Asia. Alexander studied it for a few moments, then severed it with his sword.

Dairy Leaders Are Assured Meeting If Kennedy Wins

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—New York dairy leaders were assured today of a pre-inauguration meeting with Sen. John F. Kennedy, if he is elected president, for a discussion of the farmers' problems.

Kennedy promised the session Thursday night as he told executives of New York's major dairy cooperatives that "the decline in agricultural income is the number one domestic problem, also the most complicated."

The Democratic candidate for president had been scheduled to meet with 240 dairymen today but cancelled the meeting because he wanted to spend the weekend with his wife and daughter in Hyannis Port, Mass. He arranged to address the group today by telephone.

Stanley Benham, president of the Dairymen's League, told the senator in his hotel room Thursday night that New York dairymen experienced difficulty recently in pressing their case before officials of the U.S. Agriculture Department.

Benham and Robert Forsythe of the Metropolitan Producers Bargaining Agency asked Kennedy whether he would maintain an open door policy regarding agriculture.

"It is important to talk with you gentlemen to gain a better understanding of the problems of farmers in the East," Kennedy replied. "I would be glad to take part in any meetings."

Kennedy also said he would be prepared to work for a dairy support price equitable between supply and demand. This is a prime topic in New York, where heavy milk production and slackening demand has resulted in sharp reductions in prices paid to farmers.

In order to keep prices up during the last three months of the year, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson last week suspended the supply and demand factor in the federal milk-marketing order that affects New York.

Roe Will Start Dog Act at Barn, Has Top Bookings

Golden Retrievers Are to Perform at Big Sport Shows

William I. Roe, of 84 Hurley Avenue, who had big billing throughout the nation a few years ago with the unrivaled, locally trained seal, Sharkey, is due soon to go trouping again but this time he will take to the road with a dog act.

Six golden retrievers, acquired in early August, are now performing under tutelage of the local showman, and before their appearance at the bigger sportsmen's shows in the near future, they will perform not too far from "Seal College" where Sharkey began his routine.

Relatively New to U.S.

The first booking is with Bob Teetsel at The Barn, Route 28, just beyond the Washington Avenue viaduct, where they will give their first performance Saturday night under direction of their new master.

The act is unique in that the dogs are hunters, and none of that breed has made a mark in show business. Also the golden retriever is relatively new in the nation. The history of the variety goes beyond a century, but it makes its first appearance in the United States just prior to World War I, and gained no real notice here until the 1930s.

They weigh between 50 and 60 pounds and are a rich golden-brown.

In their act each brings a prop to the stage as the show starts and they bow out juggling their backstage. They heel smartly to the master, leap through loops, do rapid figure eights, a series of stunts by hand signals, and retrieve various objects as they are called out to them.

They do hind-leg rope jumps, a variety of other jumps, perform on an aluminum bar, move rapidly on hind legs in a leaping series, and do a variety of other stunts. They are also top performers in water and have a special routine for sportsmen's shows. First bookings for the latter are in Philadelphia, Pa., and Louisville, Ky.

Worked Seal 10 Years

Bill Roe began his career in 1938 as a trouper when he went on the road with Mark Huling, trainer and master of Sharkey, who before that year, had top reputation in show business. Huling had trained many seals and was the originator of Seal College, just west of The Barn.

At first Bill was Huling's assistant. He left show business for military service in 1941, returning in 1945. For about a decade after the death of Huling, Bill continued on the road as Sharkey's master and followed the course of the same top billings. He continued through to 1957 when Sharkey went to his valhalla after more than 20 years as a performer.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Spyros Skouras stopped by the luncheon table to shake the hand of the husky young Negro. "My heartiest congratulations," said the 20th Century-Fox president.

Robert Goldstein, head of production, also dropped by. "You're going to be a big star," he commented.

The young man accepted the words as he had other honors he has received—with humility. This was Rafer Johnson, the Kingsburg, Calif., boy who became the generation's greatest all-around athlete by winning the decathlon at the Rome Olympics.

His athletic career behind him, he is embarking with equal dedication on the profession of acting. He has signed a long-term contract with 20th Century-Fox and started this week in "The Fiercest Heart."

"I play a soldier in the British army," he reported. "I don't have a lot of lines to say, but I'm in many scenes."

Rafer said the acting urge goes 'way back with him. He did many plays in high school, but athletics, studying and campus politics (he was student body president at UCLA) precluded dramatics in college.

He played in two movies, "Sergeant Rutledge," in which he had a few lines, and "Rachel Cade."

What kind of films would he like to do?

"I think I can do anything," he said confidently. "I'd like to do drama, and I'd like to do comedy, too. I can sing, mostly pop stuff. I even learned a little tap-dancing from a pole vaulter on the UCLA team."

He said his personal favorites in the acting line are Sidney Poitier and Rock Hudson.

Kennedy Says Hoffa Special Union Case

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—In the opinion of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Teamsters Union President James Hoffa is not a union leader but "a special case."

When asked Thursday night whether his criticism of Hoffa were aimed at the labor movement as a whole, the Democratic presidential nominee replied: "I consider him a special case." He added:

"The continued presence of Hoffa is unfortunate to the labor movement. I think he should go. I would not use the name of Hoffa to tar the reputation of other labor leaders."

Argentina Sure Laborer Is Not Ex-Hitler Aide

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine investigators were about convinced today that the German-born laborer who looks like Martin Bormann is not Hitler's missing deputy. But there was still mystery about the suspect's background.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, in a post-midnight news conference, said the explanations given by the one-armed suspect, known as Walter Piegler, were not satisfactory.

"But there are signs which indicate he is definitely not Bormann," Vitolo said.

Interpol, the international police organization with headquarters in Europe, is sending Bormann's fingerprints and other data about the Nazi leader last seen fleeing from Hitler's deathstand bunker in the last hours of the battle of Berlin.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, in a post-midnight news conference, said the explanations given by the one-armed suspect, known as Walter Piegler, were not satisfactory.

"But there are signs which indicate he is definitely not Bormann," Vitolo said.

Interpol, the international police organization with headquarters in Europe, is sending Bormann's fingerprints and other data about the Nazi leader last seen fleeing from Hitler's deathstand bunker in the last hours of the battle of Berlin.

IUE Votes Today On GE Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The General Electric Co. and the largest union representing GE employees appeared stalemated today over a government plea for continuation of contract negotiations and postponement of a nationwide strike threatened for Saturday midnight.

A formal union vote on whether to strike was set for today. The GE Conference Board of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) was called into session to act on strike authorizations voted by a majority of the locals of 70,000 IUE members in GE plants across the nation.

Both sides gave conditional approval to Thursday's request by Joseph P. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, that the company and union avoid any interruption of production and continue their talks.

Actor Mischa Auer was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, now known as Leningrad.

Saccoman Buys Dittmar's Shoe Store on Broadway

One of the oldest retail businesses in Kingston changed hands today when ownership of the property and business occupied by Dittmar's Shoe Store at 578 Broadway transferred to Anthony G. Saccoman, well-known local jeweler. George Dittmar, who operated the shoe business for the past 43 years announced his retirement beginning Saturday. Dittmar's Shoe Store was established 78 years ago by the late Vincent Dittmar, and the business was continued by his son, George until the present time.

Dittmar said he and his wife, who reside at 269 Smith Avenue, have no immediate plans for the future, and plan to take it easy and enjoy their retirement. Saccoman intends to continue the shoe business, located next to his jewelry store, under the Dittmar title, and will be handling the same brands. John Naccarato of Kingston, formerly with Hymes' Shoe Store on Wall Street, has been engaged to manage the Dittmar store.

Local Ward Firm Designated as Training Store

The Kingston Montgomery Ward retail store has been designated as a training store for the development of managers.

In making the appointment, K. A. Brooks, general manager of the Eastern Region, said that the management and employees of this store have demonstrated a dedicated interest and capacity to train and develop future management personnel.

A certificate of Award, recognizing the interest and effort of all concerned and the leadership of the store manager has been presented to Sully Fleming, store manager.

New Men's Shop Opens in Former Mollott Store

DONALD G. WINANS

Donald G. Winans of Winans Men's Shop, Inc., operating stores in Catskill and Norwich, announced today the lease of the former A. W. Mollott Store on Wall Street.

A grand opening is scheduled for this weekend.

Winans said that the opening of the store will bring a "great deal of pleasure" to the Winans family, a group of three brothers who assist in the operation of the three stores.

The new store will feature the "latest word in style," with the addition of quality which has been a by-word in the Winans Stores for more than 35 years, Winans said.

Brand names will be offered, Winans points out, which are "synonymous with quality." While in Catskill, Winans was active in the Chamber of Commerce, serving as a director for a number of years.

He describes himself as a great family man. He has a son and daughter. His "one great hobby" is home movies.

Winans plans to bring his family to Kingston in the near future.

Floating Debris Found

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—Floating debris that might have come from the deck of a commercial fishing boat was reported by the Coast Guard in its search for the 38-foot Steelhead, whose lone crewman radioed "goodbye" Wednesday.

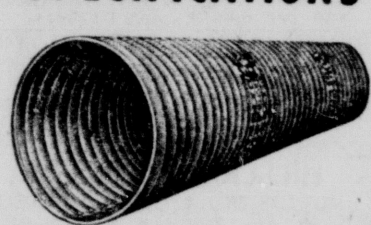

E. A. (Dave) Davison, 53, of Oakland, Calif., was long overdue to return with what he had reported was a good catch of albacore from some 125 miles southwest of San Francisco.

At least half a dozen boats reported hearing Davison's message at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday: "This is the Steelhead. This is the Steelhead. The Coho just shot me. It's been a good life. Goodbye, boys."

NEWEST LUXURY HOME OPEN IN HURLEY RIDGE

FRENCH REGENCY styling is authentically expressed in this beautiful new National home. This home offers a pleasant blending of period architecture with the living convenience of modern planning. It is a Viking aluminum home with a factory-baked, Lucite finish. This home, the Lorraine, has three bedrooms, two baths, an L-shaped living and dining room, family room, breakfast nook, and a new National Homes kitchen with base and wall cabinets finished in a walnut vinyl that is mar-proof.

Authentic French Regency Design In Lorraine by Ulster Homes

Inside the Lorraine, the bright and decorative entry is the hub of approaches to all the other living areas of the home. A focal point in the large, L-shaped living room is the unique, corner fireplace that lends a feeling of warm hospitality to the entire area. Designed for gracious living, the size and shape of this room offer opportunities for a pleasing variety of furniture arrangements, either in conversational groups of more spacious entertainment areas.

The Lorraine has both a formal dining room and a comfortably large area for family meals. Both can be served easily from the centrally-located kitchen. A feature of this skillfully-integrated area of the home is the wall and base cabinets in a new walnut vinyl finish that is both durable and easy to clean. In this over-sized kitchen, there is plenty of room for the housewife to keep within easy reach everything she uses from day to day.

Also, a large and picturesque pass-through connects the kitchen and the family room, making the serving of TV snacks a fun-filled moment during evenings at home. Glass sliding doors provide easy access to the delightful patio during the months when it is used for outdoor living.

Three large bedrooms—each with double, floor-to-ceiling closets—and two baths complete the living quarters in the Lorraine. Among the home's other facilities are a well-planned laundry area and ample storage, both inside the home and in the oversized, double garage.

A pleasant blending of the Continental charm of French Regency styling with modern planning for the utmost in living convenience is achieved in the Lorraine, a truly distinctive National home for 1960 being shown this weekend in Hurley Ridge by Ulster Homes.

The Lorraine is a Viking aluminum home on which a new and beautifully shaped siding is used. This 14-inch lap siding has deep, recessed horizontal lines that create the crisp, formal look of French Regency styling. Its attractive Regency gray color is a baked-on Lucite finish introduced for the first time in home construction by National Homes.

This 1812-square foot home, designed by Emil A. Schmidlin, A. I. A., is an authentic expression of a period architecture that creates an atmosphere of both grandeur and comfort.

Its lovely exterior is formed by a skillful blending of attractive features—the recessed entry with beckoning coach lights, the white-shuttered windows, the imposing roof lines, and the stepped chimney that is an authentic hallmark of French Regency design.

Further enhancing the beauty of the exterior is a patio that is invitingly large, yet ideally oriented to the architectural lines of the home to insure complete privacy. The sweeping driveway and rear entry provide another appealing profile of the Lorraine.

Rise in Gold Medallion Homes Shows Growing Interest and Trend to Electric Heating

The accelerating public demand for total-electric Gold Medallion homes across the nation during 1960 points up a major trend: the growing swing to electric house heating. Gold Medallion standards, Central Hudson's, prescribed electric heating as one of the minimum requirements for certification. There has been a 40% rise in the number of Gold Medallion homes sold this year as compared with 1959.

The Edison Electric Institute's Live Better Electrically program noted that there are 850,000 electrically heated homes in America today. Electric heating has increased more than 50% each year for the past five years. It is estimated that by 1970 there will be about 6 million totally electric-heated homes in the country.

Revised Rate Makes Electric Heat a Practicality

Central Hudson's revised rate brings Electric Heat within reach of every new home owner. Low original cost of electric heating installations, minimum maintenance and long life of equipment lowers the cost of electric heating even further.

Surveys show that home owners list cleanliness as their chief attraction for electric heating, by a 9-1 ratio. Present owners of this modern source of heat indicate that they are no longer faced with sooty smudges around hot air registers or behind unsightly radiators.

Drapes no longer have to be sent out to be cleaned so often in electrically-heated homes. Walls and woodwork don't have to be scrubbed down regularly as is required with conventional heat systems.

Two Basic Types

There are two basic types of electric heating systems: nonducted and ducted. Non-ducted units are locally heated and controlled, with warmth being furnished through ceiling cables, glass panels, baseboards or wall insert elements. Small non-ducted units can be built into a wall or cabinet, some with fans and some without. Some owners prefer portable units that can be carried from room to room and plugged into any outlet.

Central Systems

The other basic type is the central system, which includes the heat pump and the central air circulating unit. Both provide centralized air movement.

The heat pump offers both summer cooling and winter heat from the same central unit. When the heat pump is installed, a single setting of the thermostat will control one piece of equipment to give you the desired temperature during any season, no matter how outside temperatures may fluctuate.

In humid weather, the heat pump can wring as much as 36 gallons of moisture out of the air in a single day. Your home stays dry. Salt pours again. And mildew, mold and rust are eliminated.

If you wish, your central air circulating system can reduce dust and pollen in your home, provided electrostatic filtering is added to this system.

No matter what the system type you obtain electric heating uses all of its electrical energy to heat the inside of of your house. No heat is wasted going up the chimney.

Continental Charm captured in the Lorraine being shown this weekend.

STRIKING PROFILE of this new National home, the Lorraine, shows the beauty of the French Regency styling being introduced by the country's largest home manufacturer. The 14-inch lap siding, recessed to give the exterior a crisp, formal look, is aluminum which has a durable finish of DuPont acrylic enamel used for the first time in home construction. The porch-covered entry in to the family room adds charm as well as convenience to this area of the home.

INVITING LOOK of the living room is typical of the charm of the Lorraine, a luxury home in the French Regency styling being introduced in Hurley Ridge. The abundance of space in this well-lighted room permits a variety of furniture arrangements, either in conversational groups or more spacious entertainment areas.

PLANNED EFFICIENCY increases the usefulness of this centrally-located kitchen in the Lorraine, a luxury home. A feature of this skillfully-integrated area of the home are the wall and base cabinets in a new walnut vinyl finish that is both durable and easy to clean. The cabinet moldings are typical of the French Regency design. In this over-sized kitchen, there is ample space for the housewife to prepare meals, with everything she needs for everyday use within easy reach. The formal dining room, the breakfast nook, and the family room adjoin the kitchen, making the serving of meals or snacks no chore at all.

Revised Electric Water Heat Rate and the "Fast 40" Water Heater

Now plentiful hot water is more in demand than ever these days. And with Central Hudson's new water heating rate the family can have all the hot water it needs even more economically than before!

The "Fast Forty" quick-recovery electric hot water heater is a truly dependable means of supplying the modern family's full range of hot water needs. Needing neither vent nor flue, the electric hot water heater is completely safe.

COMPACT

The compact size of the new 40-gallon tank makes it more convenient to install precisely where you want it near bathrooms, kitchens or laundries. This steady source of hot water can be safely tucked away under counters or in closets handy to points of heavy use.

With the heating done inside the tank, your water storage is fully insulated. The water inside remains hot, thanks to immersed high-speed heating elements, while the outer shell stays cool to the touch.

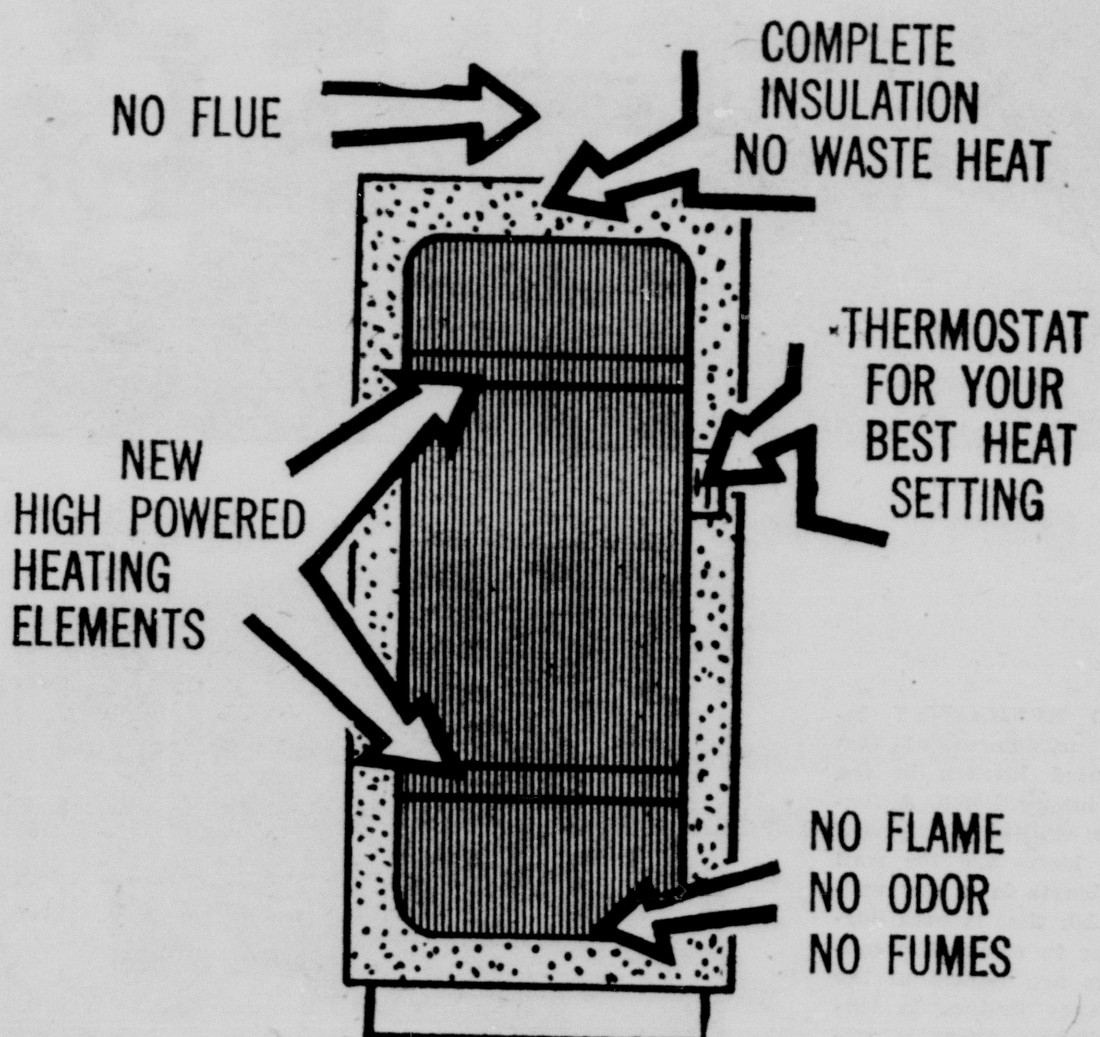

Quick-recovery tanks are available in attractive tabletop models for open use in work areas where plenty of water is used.

With the new electric hot water heater at your immediate service, the Saturday night bath can be a thing of the past. This new way of supplying hot water also fits in neatly with the homemaker's trend towards spreading her clothes washing tasks throughout the week; she can count on all the hot water she needs when she wants it.

Westinghouse Appliances Featured in Ulster Homes' New Lorraine

WESTINGHOUSE BUILT-IN OVEN AND SURFACE PLATFORM UNITS — The new Westinghouse Imperial built-in oven has a vertical control panel which keeps controls at eye level. The fully automatic timer, oven control dial, Serv-Temp roast guard indicator and signal lights are within easy reach. The new four-unit platform arrangement at left is but 21 inches square. Controls can be located below the unit, on the wall, or alongside it.

Westinghouse 1960 Laundry Models Highlight Program Control Concept

The 1960 line of Westinghouse automatic laundry equipment advances the concept of pre-set programming that takes the guesswork and dial-twirling out of home laundry operations.

On Laundromats, pre-set programs for specific types of fabrics and operations give the homemaker the proper water temperatures and the correct wash, rinse, and spin times and speeds at the push of a single button or one turn of a control dial. The same basic simplicity of controls is found on the 1960 Westinghouse clothes dryer.

Last year Westinghouse introduced a special top model set of twins — the L-1000 Laundromat and D-1000 dryer — styled with wood finishes and made of embossed furniture-like steel. Because of the acceptance of this top model concept, Westinghouse for 1960 has enlarged the 1000 series to include models in white and the Westinghouse confection colors of pink, yellow, and aqua.

The L-1000 Laundromat has eleven pre-set wash programs on its computer system. The operator pushes the button for the appropriate program and the computer automatically selects the proper combination of wash times, water temperatures, rinses, and spins for that particular load.

There are four regular programs for pre-wash, colorfast cottons and linens, heavy soil, normal, soiled clothes and linens, and silks and synthetics. There are two wash and wear programs and five special programs including cold water wash, a blanket wash, tint program, a drain and spin, and a rinse and spin program.

The D-1000 clothes dryer has eight pre-set programs for regular fabrics, fine fabrics, wash and wear, damp dry, blankets, wrinkle removing, low heat drying and air fluffing.

The second series of twins also available in both white and the three confection colors are the Custom Imperial models. Both the Laundromat and dryer in this series have eight pre-set programs.

Both of the top series of Laundromats include the automatic lint ejector which constantly sweeps lint and soil out of the wash and rinse waters, injectors which automatically add fabric conditioners to rinse water at the proper time, weigh-to-save doors which eliminate the guesswork in weighing clothes, suds and water saver indicator that can save up to half on soap and up to ten gallons of water.

The clothes dryers in the two top series use the direct air flow drying system which sends fresh warm air directly into the tumbling clothes. This reduces drying time, saves electricity, and is safe for all fabrics. These models have a new lint collector accessible through the work surface top.

The third series of twins in the line is the Royal Laundromat and electric dryer. The Laundromat has two basic programs, but its flexible control makes it possible to set up a variety of special programs. It has a soap and water saver and the automatic lint ejector.

The Westinghouse Royal dryer has a three-temperature—regular, low, and fluff—control and a time selector that automatically shuts off the unit when the drying operation is completed.

Features common to all three Laundromat models include the multi-speed agitator, triple rinsing, self cleaning, 10-pound capacity, full fill water control, the silent watchman control to stop the motor in the event of overloading, a one-year warranty on the complete machine and five years on the drive mechanism.

Dryer features common to all include a capacity to handle 20 pounds of damp clothes, operation on either 115-volt or 230-volt circuits, 5400-watt heating elements on 115/230 volts.

Common to all Laundromats and dryers are the door safety switch that stops the operation when the door is opened, an interior light, a recessed top that is a handy work surface, and connections recessed in the rear so that the unit can be installed flush against a wall.

Built-in Appliances Grow in Popularity, Demand More Attention From Homemaker

The greatest change in kitchen design concepts since the first use of electricity is now under way with the advent and increasing use of the built-in appliance, according to Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Actually, the built-in appliance is not all new. Dishwashers, food waste disposers, and water heaters have been installed as built-ins for a number of years. However, when the homemaker speaks of built-ins today she is generally referring to refrigerators, freezers, ranges, and most recently laundry equipment. In fact, several of the most interesting developments in the built-in field have come with recent new ideas in laundry equipment.

The first is the introduction of the first automatic washer and electric clothes dryer that can be truly "built-in." To meet built-in requirements, both the washer and the dryer must be front opening. In addition, they must be flexible enough to be installed in most any location in the home. As an answer to these requirements, Westinghouse has its 25-inch-wide identical Laundromat and clothes dryer—the Space Mates.

These units can provide automatic washing and drying in just 25 inches of floor space by installation of the dryer on top of the Laundromat. They can also be installed side by side at floor level or raised thirty inches off the floor for maximum reach-in convenience. Of course, they can be used as free standing models also.

The second development in built-in laundry equipment that is presently catching the fancy of the American homemaker is that of locating the laundry equipment close to the bedroom or bathroom. Westinghouse has been an advocate of this location for several years because it has been found that 80 per cent of the contents of the soiled clothing hamper originate in the bedroom or bathroom.

The convenient location of the Laundromat and dryer in the bedroom-bathroom area cuts down on the work of the homemaker. She need not carry her clothes from one part of the home to the other for laundering and then back for storage or use. The idea is even more practical now when the appliances can be built-in behind louvered doors, as an example, and concealed when not in use.

Refrigerators and Ranges Also Popular Built-Ins

Built-in ranges and refrigerators are also very popular and provide great potential in further convenience in the kitchen—but only when they are used properly. The built-in oven can be installed at a height which reduces the effort needed in removing heavy roasts, for instance, from the oven. In addition, an oven at proper height makes stooping and bending unnecessary. But, the height of installation is very important. It must be low enough that the top shelf is below the eye level for the person using it. Also, the upper surface of the fully opened door should be two inches below the height of the homemaker's elbow. Subject to these limits, the higher the oven, the less energy is expended in putting food in or removing it from the oven.

A final consideration in planning a built-in kitchen is to be sure to get a reputable builder or modernization dealer, because mistakes made in planning a built-in kitchen are not easily rectified. Also, a manufacturer with a reputation for quality products and a full line of appliances should be chosen so that a community of design can be achieved for a more handsome appearing kitchen.

NO MORE LAUNDRY GUESSWORK — Featuring the concept of pre-set programming, the Westinghouse Laundromat and dryer take the guesswork and dial-twirling out of home laundry operations. Pre-set programs for specific types of fabrics and operations give the homemaker the proper water temperatures and the correct wash, rinse and spin times and speeds at a single turn of a control dial. The same basic simplicity of controls is found on the 1960 Westinghouse clothes dryers. Other Laundromat features include an automatic lint ejector which constantly sweeps lint and soil out of wash and rinse waters, automatic addition of fabric conditioners, and the soap and water saver indicator that can save up to half on soap and up to ten gallons of water. Clothes dryers feature direct air flow drying system which sends fresh warm air directly into tumbling clothes, reducing drying time and saving electricity.

Westinghouse Baseboard Electric Heat Provides Clean, Efficient Heating

WESTINGHOUSE 'TOTAL ELECTRIC HOME' IS A NEW CONCEPT IN LIVING

Westinghouse Electric Corporation has introduced a new idea in American homes in which electricity does almost everything including heating, cooling, cooking, cleaning, and entertaining. The company calls the new concept the "Total Electric Home."

Convinced that America is on the verge of a new and popular demand in home construction, Westinghouse invested $2,500,000 during 1959 in a public information program to acquaint consumers with the trend toward Total Electric Living—a trend in which electricity provides not only year-around healthful comfort in the home, but also the many conveniences which make life easier and more enjoyable.

In 1960, Westinghouse plans a $3,000,000 program to show that Total Electric Homes can be built in any style, size, price range or geographic location.

This phase was started last year when the company called together architects from different parts of the United States and commissioned them to design Total Electric Homes for all needs—new homemakers, the larger family, the family wanting a 'second home' at a resort location, the higher income family or the couple who have now raised their children and want a home designed for their present requirements.

The main difference between the Total Electric Home and conventional homes is that electricity does almost everything. It illuminates, heats, cools, entertains, prepares and preserves food, does the manual labor and, above all, saves time so that members of the family can see more of each other and do more things together.

"One of the key things accomplished with this approach is to make the word 'housework' obsolete, for the wife actually becomes the manager of a large number of electrical assistants," one company spokesman remarked.

The basis for this kind of living is electric heating, which has become a fast-growing trend in America's residential progress because home owners want something extra in convenience, health and cleanliness. Last year, 91,000 homes were built with—or converted to—electric heating systems.

There are about 600,000 electrically heated homes in the United States today.

Market analysts, recognizing the increased demand for this kind of residential living, say that this number will jump to 700,000 by the end of 1960 and is conservatively figured to be 2.2 million in 10 years.

Surveys show that home owners list cleanliness as their chief attraction for electric heating by a 9-1 ratio. They recognize that there is a marked increase in leisure time when sooty smudges do not have to be cleaned from around hot air registers or from behind unsightly radiators . . . when drapes don't have to be sent out to be cleaned as often . . . when walls and woodwork do not have to be scrubbed down with the regularity needed with conventional furnaces.

Electric heating, often utilizing baseboard units which blend in with any decor, offers the most flexible form of heating available for the home. With individual thermostats controlling the heat in each room, the living room can be kept at 72 degrees, the bathroom at 80 and bedrooms at 65. On bright winter days, the rooms on the sunny side of the house can be "turned down." With this type of heating system, it is not necessary to overheat the entire home in order to be comfortable in one area.

The baseboard units allow for uniform heat throughout the room without the health hazards of hot drafts or cold spots. And with no moving parts to wear out or cause trouble, this form of electric heating is completely silent and requires negligible maintenance. In addition to being cleaner, air in an electrically heated home is also fresher, for oxygen is not consumed in the heating process.

WESTINGHOUSE BASEBOARD ELECTRIC HEATING HAS PLUG-IN FEATURE—Baseboard electric heating introduced by the air conditioning division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation this year features a "plug-in" design that has greatly reduced the time required for installations of the units. They are suitable for homes, apartments, schools, churches, and offices, and can be painted to match room decor. The control section, with built-in thermostat, is shown here in the center under the window.

For the man of the house interested in efficient operations, the unit electric system uses all the energy to heat the inside of the home — none is wasted going up a chimney. Installation costs of such systems generally cost considerably less than comparable combustion heating systems for such expenses as duct work and chimney erection are eliminated.

For those interested in the ultimate in year-around residential comfort, the heat pump offers both summer cooling and winter heating from the same central unit. When the heat pump is installed, a single setting of a thermostat will control one piece of equipment to give the desired temperature during any season and no matter how the outside temperature may fluctuate.

The heat pump operates on the same basic principle as a refrigerator. In warm weather, the pump cools the house by extracting heat from the air inside the house and pumping it outside just as a refrigerator throws off warm air. In cold weather, this refrigeration cycle is reversed. Even cold air contains enough latent heat to give up energy when passed through the pump's compressor. This heat is taken from the outdoor air and circulated throughout the house.

Like other types of electric heating, the heat pump does away with dirt, soot, open flame and the space-consuming furnace, stoker or oil storage tank. And with all windows and doors closed in the summer, insects, dust, pollen and noises are kept outside.

In humid weather, the heat pump can wring as much as 36 gallons of moisture out of the air in a single day. The house stays dry. Guests can be entertained indoors. The family remains together instead of being scattered to various makeshift comfort spots. Salt pours again. Hay fever and other allergy victims find relief. And mildew, mold and rusts are avoided.

Westinghouse has organized a national sales force of experienced men to work with builders and cooperating electric utilities on the Total Electric Home project. These men will coordinate the distributors of all Westinghouse products for the home and thus make it easy for builders to get what they require from one source at one time.

This project was called the "Total Electric Home" because all-electric homes have been conversational pieces for a long time. Many people with a few more appliances than their neighbors think they have one. Over the years the idea of the "all electric home" has been so diluted that Westinghouse made a conscious effort to come up with a name that would convey what company planners had in mind — a simple idea that everything in the house was electric — that there is no other source of energy or fuel.

NEW HEATER KEEPS HOT WATER SUPPLY CONSTANT

"Hot water whenever I want it? I won't run out?"

More and more homemakers are asking these questions incredibly, as they learn from friends and neighbors about the quick recovery electric water heaters of Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Although usually of only 10-gallon capacity, compared to traditional 50 to 80 gallon size requirements, this heater delivers hot water at a rate as much as six times faster than conventional units. In fact, it delivers 2½ times more hot water than ordinary 40-gallon heaters.

Because of the satisfactory way they keep up with the growing needs of the homemaker for hot water, they are enjoying increasing popularity. A big reason for this is their ability to provide the extra hot water often needed to get good results from other electric appliances like automatic clothes washers and electric dishwashers.

Standard laboratory tests by Westinghouse engineers show that despite their speed and high rate of hot water delivery, the quick recovery units cost no more to operate than ordinary heaters. Because of their compact size, the initial purchase cost is less, too.

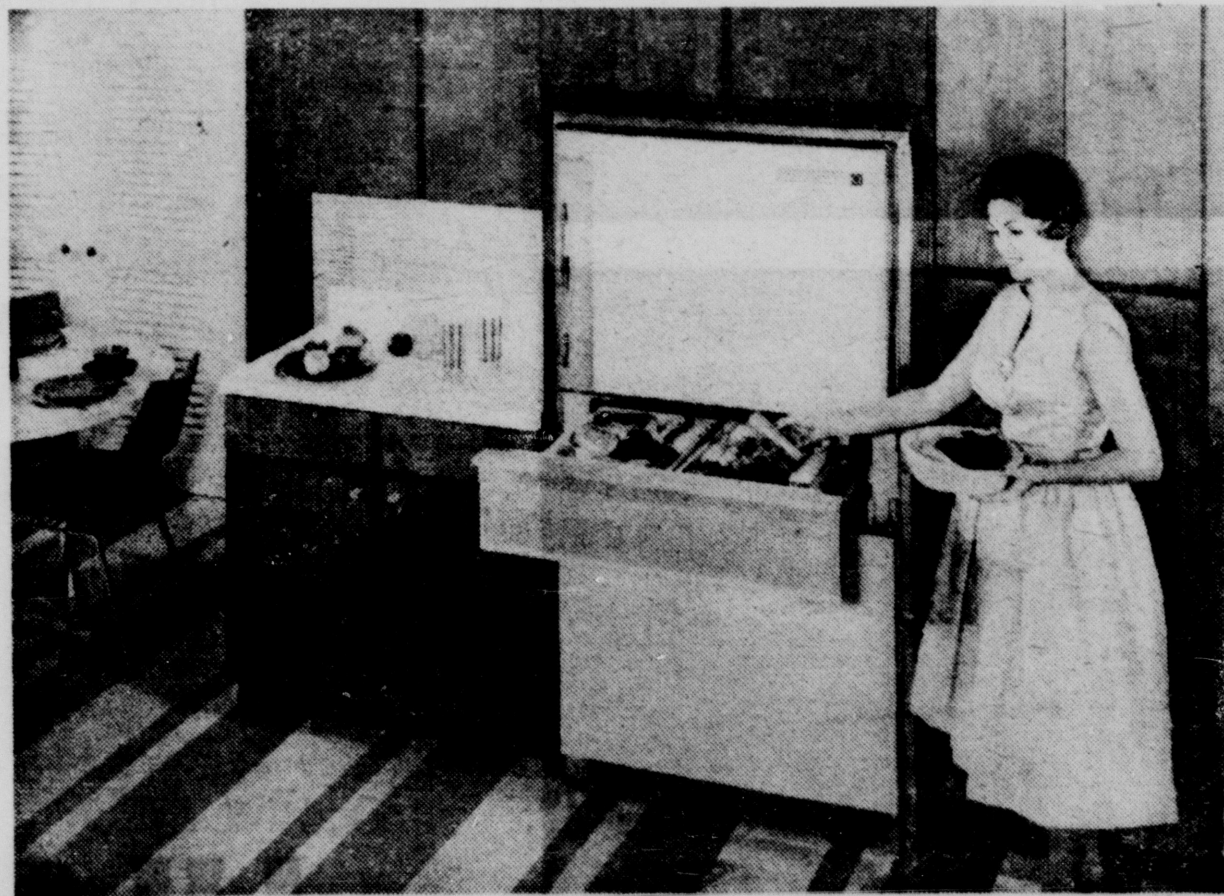

The Westinghouse engineers ran tests in homes to prove that a homemaker can wash a load of clothes every hour all day and never run out of hot water.

The secret of the quick recovery heater lies in the direct heat high speed elements which are inside the tank, completely immersed in water where they work silently and safely with no heat loss. Since the heating is done inside the tank, the storage tank itself is fully insulated, thus keeping the water hot but the outer shell cool to the touch.

The fact that present owners are telling their friends and neighbors about quick recovery heaters is not astonishing. A recent Westinghouse survey of owners indicated that 97.1 per cent liked their quick recovery heaters and 89.3 per cent claimed they never ran out of hot water.

Prior to getting their quick recovery units, 69.2 per cent said they were continually running short of hot water. More than half of them had automatic washers both before and after obtaining the new heater.

To understand fully the significance of this high speed delivery of hot water, note this comparison. In just two hours a quick recovery heater gives you a full tank of 150-degree water. A standard heater takes about twelve hours. Even from a cold start, the quick recovery unit can deliver ten gallons of 150-degree water in half an hour.

WESTINGHOUSE CENTER DRAWER KEEPS MEATS FRESH SEVEN DAYS — Fresh meats, even hamburger, can be kept without freezing seven days in the new Westinghouse refrigerator with the exclusive glide-out center drawer. Vegetables also are kept in the drawer under ideal humidity and temperature conditions. The center drawer is a revolutionary new feature of 1960 Westinghouse refrigerators, adding convenience and economy. It permits complete once-a-week shopping by offering enough unfrozen storage space for all items.

Full Housepower Makes a Happy House

You Live Better Electrically With Full Housepower

What electricity can do to help you live better is limited only by your imagination—and your home wiring system. A truly up-to-date wiring system can contribute in a thousand and one ways to your family's happiness, health and safety, your home's beauty and convenience, now and for years ahead.

Today's families expect electricity to take over all the back-breaking drudgery of KEEPING house—cleaning, cooking, washing and drying clothes and dishes. The smart homemaker is looking at how many ways electricity can also enrich her family's leisure and increase comfort now. She sees the opportunities that air conditioning, television, home lighting and wiring offer her to exercise her sense of beauty and good taste through furnishings and decoration.

And, because Mother has made it too attractive to leave, today's family spends more of its increased leisure time at home. Working at hobbies, entertaining friends and relatives, listening to good music on records and radio, watching television—all bring the family closer together. Electricity runs Father's power tools, Sister's tropical fish aquarium and the family lawn mower. The ease and convenience of brightening the night with light, and cooking with electricity have made the backyard barbecue an American institution.

With all these benefits has come a tremendous increase in the demand for wiring systems that are adequate to do the job for today's modern families. Most people now give careful consideration to their homes' wiring needs. Whether you love your present home's spaciousness and solid setting (and only wish to improve its livability in certain areas) or you are looking seriously at builders' attractive model homes because of family needs, or you are readying your files of "dream house ideas" for architect and building contractor appraisal, full HOUSEPOWER is a basic requirement for having a happy home. We've all realized how inadequate wiring bars our enjoyment of modern electrical living.

Medallion Home Standards Can Assure You Comfortable Living

The Gold Medallion is proudly displayed on the new Lorraine . . . on display this week-end. Ulster Homes, Inc., builder and developer of Hurley Ridge, has installed Westinghouse appliances and electric heat. The Lorraine is one of the few homes in the area to gain this coveted award.

What is a Medallion Home? And what is a Gold Medallion Home? These are questions which have often been asked by those making their first contact with the symbol that has come to mean safe, comfortable, convenient living.

Basically, they are residences that meet certain nationally established standards of electrical excellence. To attain Bronze Medallion certification, a residence must have an electric range and at least three major electrical appliances, as well as wiring to the American Standard Requirements for Residential Wiring, and Light for Living to the standards of the American Home Lighting Institute.

Some Higher

The appliance inclusion standards of some areas are even higher than the national standards. But, in each instance, the purchaser of a Bronze Medallion Home is assured of the comfort, cleanliness, safety and convenience which an electric range and all of the other electrical appliances provide. In addition to the electric range, he will find the home has at least three appliances from among a list including an electric refrigerator, an electric food freezer, an electric washer, an electric clothes dryer, an electric dishwasher, an electric garbage disposer, an electric water heater or electric air conditioning.

In areas where wiring requirements for Medallion Homes equal or exceed "American Standard Requirements for Residential Wiring," buyers of these homes are assured of sufficient electric capacity to serve presently-installed equipment with top efficiency. More important, however, they can be sure that the home also has ample capacity to permit additional electrical equipment to be used with little or no added cost or electrical installation.

What They Have

Briefly stated, homes which are wired to these standards have:

1. A main electric service entrance (basic electrical supply) of AT LEAST 100 amperes' capacity, even in the smallest home. Larger homes or those which have central electric heating and/or air conditioning will have as much as 150 or 200 ampere main service entrances.

2. A sufficient number of branch circuits having amply large wire to carry electricity to lights and appliances throughout the house, with no concern for "overloading." Major appliances will have individual circuits, which serve nothing else.

3. An ample supply of convenience outlets and switches, all conveniently and properly located to permit easy use and control of lamps and plug-in appliances throughout the house.

Ample Lighting

Adherence to the qualifying Light for Living Standards of the American Home Lighting Institute will assure the purchaser of a Medallion Home of ample lighting for each function of his home. It will provide him with safe lighting readily controlled on stairways and in hallways. It will give him lighting in study and work areas that will protect eyesight, promote efficiency and increase safety.

Gold Medallion

And what is a Gold Medallion Home? The Gold Medallion indicates that, in addition to the features of the Medallion Home, the home is totally electric. The Gold Medallion tells the prospective purchaser that the home is entirely flameless, modern and clean; it tells him that the home is heated electrically with resultant comfort, convenience and flexibility.

Electrical heat provides the home owner with a gentle, constant, all-enveloping warmth that less modern types of "fossil" fuels cannot equal. It provides him with room-by-room thermostatic control that gives individual comfort and flexibility which could not be attained as economically through use of any other type of heating. In addition, electric heating equipment occupies practically no space that would be otherwise usable, thereby leaving for other uses the space that would be occupied by less modern types of heating equipment.

Either the Medallion, or the Gold Medallion, when affixed to a residence, gives the prospective purchaser assurance that the home offers him the opportunity to Live Better . . . Electrically. They are the certification marks which are, today, guiding thousands of families in their determination to purchase for themselves the safety, the convenience and the comfort of electrical living.

Maintenance-free Aluminum Homes Prove Popular with Buyers.

Introduced just 18 months ago, Viking aluminum homes have won quick acceptance by the public as a new standard of housing. At the present time, these homes are accounting for better than 75 per cent of the production of National Homes Corporation.

When the Viking aluminum homes were introduced, they were considered a revolutionary advance in home building. But home buyers were quick to realize the savings offered by the maintenance-free qualities of these homes. As a result, three out of four families now want a home with the extra protection of a Viking aluminum exterior.

The aluminum exterior has a factory-baked finish of acrylic enamel. Available in a variety of long-lasting colors, this finish gives both durability and beauty to the exterior of the home. The viking homes are available in Colonial, Cape Cod, Contemporary and French Regency styling.

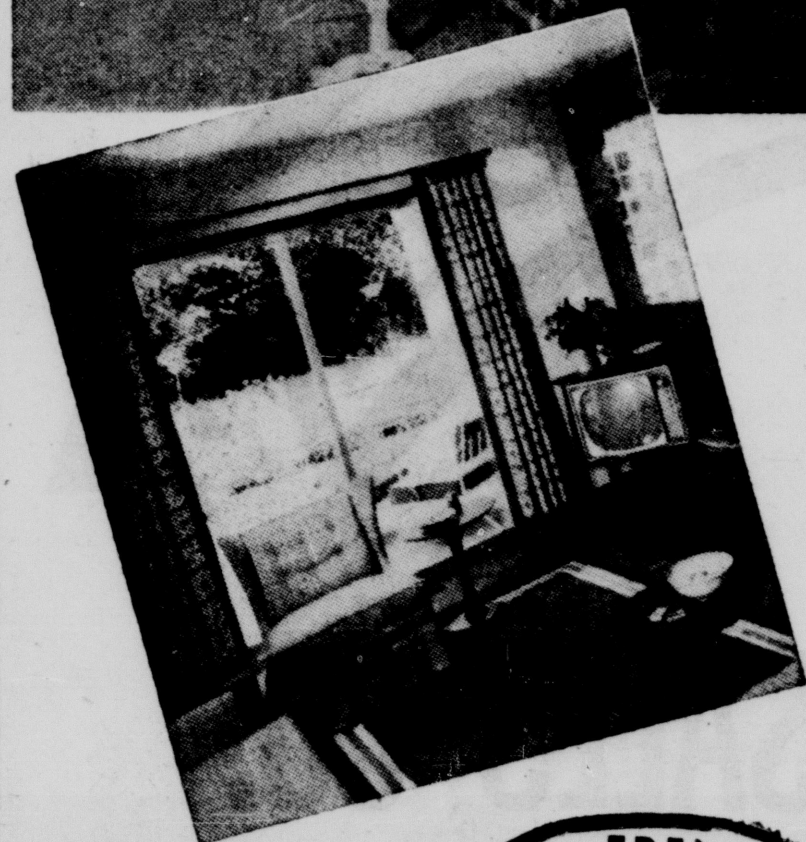

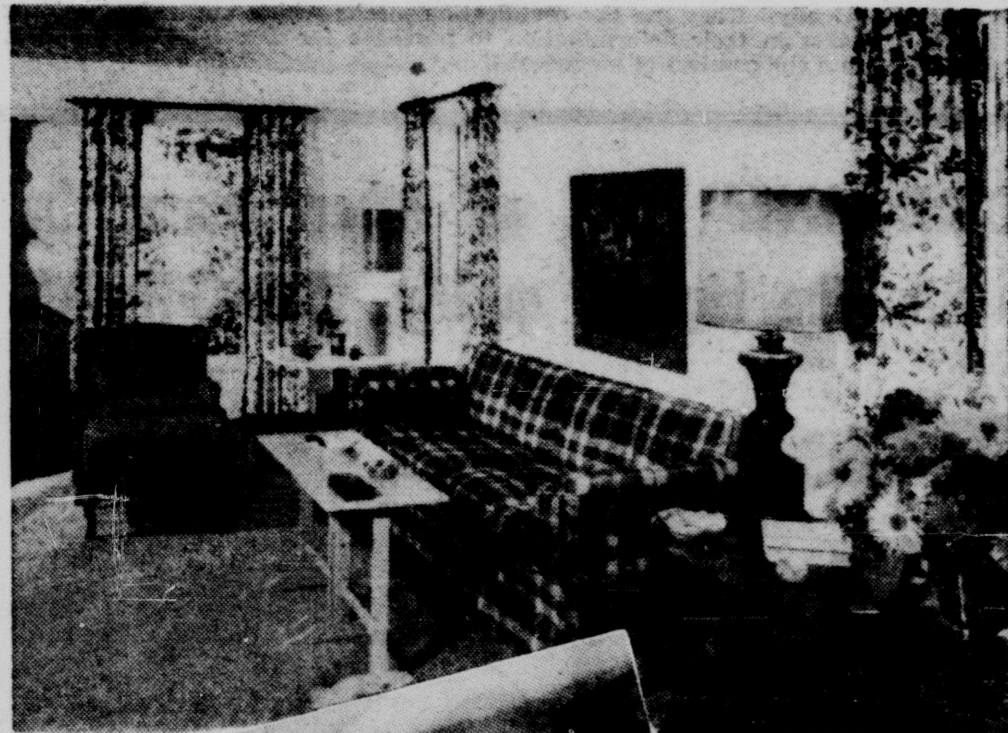

The maintenance-free quality of this kind of construction was recognized recently by the Federal Housing Administration. It ruled that families by such a home could qualify for a higher FHA mortgage than usual because they would incur lower maintenance and operating costs.

"It has recently come to our attention and been verified by our observation that siding with baked enamel finish has withstood exposure to weather over a period of 10 years in such a manner as to indicate the probability that repainting may not be necessary for periods of 15 years or longer," the FHA said in a bulletin to its field offices.

The homes are professionally planned and individually styled. They meet the urgent demand of American families for the more efficient use of space within the home. This is particularly true of the second-time buyers, who are dominating today's housing market. They want the maximum space they can get for their growing families for the money they have to spend for shelter. They also are most discriminating in their tastes; they want nice-looking houses that reflect their higher incomes and rising standard of living.

The materials used in the production of these homes is of brand-name quality, assuring a long-term value. And the production of these home components is done in modern factories, where workers use machines of great efficiency and precision, lowering costs and raising quality standards. Throughout operations in these plants, frequent inspections insure quality control.

Among other services offered are interim and final mortgage financing; the assistance of consultants experienced in the advertising field; marketing advice based on the broadest experience in the home building industry; technical assistance in the areas of subdivision planning, and training of builder-dealer sales personnel.

HOMES UNLIMITED!

Nearly 200,000 American families living in Hurley Ridge and countless other communities throughout the country have proved the merit of a revolutionary idea in home building developed by Jim Price, a Lafayette, Indiana, home manufacturer.

Determined to put a house on the market that a working man could buy, Price abandoned conventional building for the modern manufacturing methods that had enabled the automobile industry to grow into the giant that it is today.

Why can't houses be produced on an assembly line just like cars and refrigerators and the many other products that have given this country the highest standard of living in all history? That was the question young Jim Price asked himself as he started to develop the basic idea.

The answer is found in the fact that, in a relatively brief span, Jim Price has produced close to 200,000 homes — more than any other one person in the history of home building.

The way he accomplished this unprecedented feat makes one of the most amazing success stories in modern business.

Today, National Homes Corporation, which Price founded in 1940, is by far America's largest home manufacturer. Its plants in Lafayette, Indiana; Horseheads, New York; and Tyler, Texas, cover more than twenty-five acres of manufacturing space and have a production capacity of about 300 homes a day. But this industrial giant first started in a plant that was smaller than some of the Luxury Line homes that the company now produces. And the $12,500 of investment capital with which the company was started twenty years ago isn't much more than the capital investment per employee it now has in its five big factories.

This spectacular success has won for Price, now National Homes' Board Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, TIME MAGAZINE'S title of "King of the Builders." Recently, he was named "The Man of the Year" in the light metals industry. This honor came to him because he was the first to introduce a full line of homes with bake-finished, maintenance-free aluminum exterior walls and roofs.

National's first-year production was 162 homes, all of them erected in Lafayette by the dealership Jim had formed with his younger brother, George E. Price, now President of National Homes. Immediately, Jim's idea caught on with other builders and by the end of 1941, twenty had become franchised in the National Homes sales organization.

Just prior to World War II, and through much of the global conflict, an urgent need for housing was created as hundreds of defense and war plants sprung up all over the nation.

Here was a need National's methods could meet ably. As a result, the young company produced 15,000 units in 1942 and 1943 and along the way won the coveted Army and Navy "E."

In February, 1944, the company received a staggering blow — fire completely wiped out the Lafayette plant.

But the embers had hardly cooled before Price and his associates were back to work, rebuilding the plant, this one much larger (75,000 sq. ft. of floor space). In less than six months after the fire, homes were again coming off National's assembly lines.

At the end of the war, Price quickly reconverted National's manufacturing lines to their original purpose — producing good homes for a growing America at prices most every family could afford.

To assure favorable financing for National home buyers, Price in 1947 organized the National Homes Acceptance Corporation. This subsidiary not only made mortgage money available to home buyers, but also provided construction money to National's builders.

By 1948, the company had built the productive capacity and the sales organization (165 builder-dealers) to begin a modest national advertising program which has been vigorously expanded ever since.

That year, production totalled 1,547. In 1949, it climbed to 2,163. This rise was due to the popularity of the "Thrift Home" which Jim Price created in answer to a government official's challenge: "What this country needs is a good $6,000 house." Production soared to 6,648 in 1950 as the "Thrift home" continued to help boost sales of 300 dealerships in 24 states.

Later that same year, the growing company broke out of its regional bounds by establishing the plant in Horseheads, New York, to serve a growing demand in the densely-populated eastern states. In six months, National's engineers had turned a warehouse into a modern home manufacturing plant with 185,000 sq. ft. of space.

Despite severe credit restrictions in 1951 that braked much of the housing industry, the company's production continued to grow, reaching 10,965.

On July 22, 1953, the 50,000th National home was erected in Indianapolis, Indiana — a record never before achieved in the home building industry. Production for the year rose to 12,738. Plant expansion and greater mechanization of assembly lines hiked the Lafayette plant's capacity to 90 homes a day.

Soon outstanding styling and design advances were to follow, one of them the 1954 introduction of "The Ranger." With the builder organization now expanded to 41 states, that year production soared to 20,203 as more and more home buyers found in National the answers to their demands for high-quality homes in a wide range of sizes, styles and money-saving prices.

This popular series was to be followed by "The Pacemakers," which helped boost sales to still higher peaks in 1955, with a new record of 22,866.

That year, to serve the demands of the south and southwest, the plant in Tyler, Texas, went into production, with a daily capacity of 90 units. At Lafayette, plant space doubled again, enabling this sprawling factory to push its daily production to 150 units. With the 60-a-day capacity of the Horseheads plant, the company now had the capacity for 300 units a day.

With erection of the 100,000th National home in Fort Wayne, Indiana, in September 1956, the company reached an important milestone in its history. A survey of these 100,000 home-owning families by Elmo Roper produced some interesting results. "In our experience," the pollster reported, "no product has had a higher percentage of customer approval than National Homes."

Though the government's "tight money" policy still prevailed in 1957, discriminating against families seeking to buy homes under the VA and FHA programs, National's production edged ahead to 17,084 at a time when the industry as a whole fell by 14 per cent.

This Fall, National will produce its 200,000th home, and it should be noted that the company is reaching these milestones with ever-increasing speed.

So, the workability of Jim Price's idea, already proved in a spectacular way, is bringing about an important revolution in home building. More and more builders are turning to these industrialized methods as a way to combat spiraling costs and to insure an adequate supply of homes for the families living in a growing America.
